Capital Takes On 'Historical' Fever

By Douglas B. Cornell

Washington (AP)—The town really began to bulge, bustle and buzz Wednesday with people crowding in for Friday's inauguration of John F. Kennedy as President of the United States. Sprightly, peppery, Harry S. Truman, who once lived in the White House himself, was among them.

The Kennedy clan was gathering, too. The president-elect spent the day in New York before flying down to Washington to start the rounds of official pre-inaugural events with an appearance at a reception honoring Vice President-elect Lyndon B. Johnson. Mrs. Kennedy came by plane from the other direction, from Palm Beach, Fla.

And, except for carpenters still pounding on a stately white stand in front of the stately White House, things are about as ready as they ever will be for the great changeover in administrations. Security agents have even battened down all the manholes in the streets along the line of march of the inaugural parade.

Bathing Beauties

But it looks like chilblain and goosepimple weather for some of the gorgeous girls who will be riding floats. Florida is going to have 7 bathing beauties aboard an entry depicting the "Sunshine State. And the parade people are counting on girls in native costumes or evening dress to entrance the onlookers on behalf of such balmy places as Hawaii, Guam and the Virgin Islands.

The weatherman, though, said it looks now as if there may be a bit of snow Thursday. And Friday will be cold and windy with the temperature around freezing.

This prospect seemed to have no effect whatever on anybody, even in a city where a snowflake lames traffic.

Every train and plane poured in out-of-towners. Information booths at terminals, hotels and motels were mobbed with people wanting maps, or word on where to round up that ticket to the inaugural ball that should have arrived by mail. Reinforcements from as far as Chicago came to the assistance of firms renting evening apparel.

President Eisenhower held his last news conference and rolled through a heavy round of appointments. With less than 48 hours left for him at the White House, he had the air of a man who wasn't exactly unhappy at the idea of leaving it — only that a Democrat was moving in.

It was Harry Truman who gave up the Democratic lease on the executive mansion 8 years ago. And the 73-year-old Missourian was utterly delighted that a Democrat will be moving back in Friday afternoon.

He beamed at welcomers at union station, shook hands exuberantiy and told everyone in earshot:

"Whenever the Democrats are around, you're in good company."

DR. TOM DOOLEY DIES

SACRIFICIALLY ESTABLISHED HOSPITALS FOR LAOTIANS

New York (AP) — Jungle doctor Thomas Dooley died Wednesday night at Memorial Hospital.

Dooley, 34, established hospitals in Laos and worked there until stricken with cancer. He had been reported in serious condition and semiconscious recently. He had been operated on for chest cancer at the hospital in 1959. Then he had a recurrence of the disease.

The famed young doctor died at 9:40 p.m. EST, but the hospital withheld any announcement until his family could be notified.

Malcolm W. Dooley, a brother of the doctor, said the body was to be removed immediately to the Arthur Donnelly Funeral Home in St. Louis.

It is to lie in state for one day at St. Louis Cathedral, but no date for this was set.

Dr. Dooley

After a funeral mass at St. Louis Cathedral, burial will take place in Calvary Cemetery beside his father, Thomas A. Dooley Sr., and a brother, Earle, killed in Germany during World War II.

Dooley became 34 just Tuesday.

He had been sufficiently alert on his last birthday to receive a visit from Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, and hear a telegram of high praise from President Eisenhower.

Navy Medic

Dooley was born in St. Louis on Jan. 17, 1927. He had a year of pre medical training at the University of Notre Dame before serving two years, from 1944 to 1946, as a Navy medical corpsman attached to the Marines.

After that period of service he studied for a year at the Sorbonne, in Paris, then was graduated from the St. Louis University school of medicine in 1953.

Rejoining the Navy as a Lieutenant, junior grade Dooley served his internship first at the naval hospital at Camp Pendleton, Calif., and later aboard the attack transport USS Montague.

In 1954, at the end of the war in Indochina, his ship was assigned to aid in the evacuation of refugees from Communist North Viet Nam.

Do Something

It was then Dooley, touched by the plight of the refugees, decided that when he left the Navy he would do something to help such people.

For his work with refugees, later described in his best-selling book "Deliver Us From Evil," Dr. Dooley won the Legion of Merit—the youngest officer in the history of the medical corps to receive it.

He also received the National Order of Viet Nam, that nation's highest decoration.

Out of the Navy in 1956, he used the proceeds of his book and supplies donated by pharmaceutical companies to go to Laos with 3 former Navy buddies and set up a small hospital at Nam Tha.

To Country

He turned this hospital over to the Laotian government in 1957 and returned to this country to raise more funds.

With Dr. Peter D. Comanduras, a Washington physician, he founded Medico and raised money by another best-seller, "The Edge of Tomorrow," and a lecture tour.

In 1958 Dooley returned to Laos to establish the hospital he considered his own, at the remote village of Muong Sing near the Chinese border.

With only mats for beds and many of the mats laid in hallways, the hospital soon was handling 100 patients a day and Dooley made plans to build other hospitals.

In August, 1959, he learned that a tumor on his chest was malignant and flew to New York for an operation.

The operation was considered a success and Dooley went ahead with his work.

He made an extensive lecture tour in late 1959 doing what he himself described as "begging, bumming, borrowing and, from time to time, stealing just a little bit" for his and other Medico hospitals.

In May, 1960, he flew back for a checkup at Memorial Hospital and got an encouraging report. His third book, "The Night They Burned The Mountain," was published and became another success.

Applauded

In June he got an honorary degree from the University of Notre Dame, and the loudest round of applause of any degree recipient except one—President Eisenhower.

In October Dooley came back to Memorial Hospital for another semi annual checkup and said he was told there was no extension of the chest cancer. "My health is fine," he said.

Exhausted

But in late November, after going to Hong Kong to discuss a new hospital program, he was hospitalized there for "sheer exhaustion." He said he had lost 14 pounds in a month.

X-rays showed "bony destruction in the vertabrae," and doctors said it was likely due to an extension of cancer. He was fitted with a brace from shoulders to hips.

Dooley vowed to continue his work if his "iron maiden" made it possible for him to get around.

"I am not going to quit," he insisted. "I will continue to guide and lead my hospitals until my back, my brain, my blood and my bones collapse."

Dr. Dooley Here In November, '59

Dr. Dooley made a 4-hour appearance in Lincoln 14 months ago—Nov. 11, 1959—addressing 2,000 University of Nebraska students and 400 business and professional men. He told the University audience: "All I want to do is to take care of people who are sick."

His Lincoln appearance followed receipt in Omaha of the $10,000 Mutual of Omaha Criss Award, recognizing his outstanding contribution in the field of health. Dr. Dooley at that time pledged the $10,000 to a village hospital in Kenya.

Travel Strike Worse

New York (AP) — The New Haven Railroad was forced by tugboat pickets Wednesday to suspend passenger service to 30,000 daily commuters. It brought to 100,000 the number stranded in the 9-day walkout.

The strikers, using a pink Cadillac to transport a handful of pickets to Connecticut, prevailed upon New Haven trainmen to respect their slim picket lines. Suspension of service was then announced by New Haven president George Alpert, who said: ,

"It is with great regret that we find ourselves forced to discontinue passenger service in and out of the New York area . . .

Injustice

"In the face of continued picketing by striking maritime unions, we have tried to the utmost to keep this service running. We feel it is a real injustice that 660 striking tugboat workers, who do not have any part in the operation of our commuter service, can thus tie up 30,000 New Haven commuters and retard vital shipments of food and fuel into New York."

General Chairman George Cahill of the New Haven's Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen had said operating rail personnel would quit the trains, although he didn't say when. He told reporters:

"Some of our men have been threatened. They are fearful of their health and safety and the majority won't pass the picket lines."

Hit Central

The strikers' foray into New England followed a successful picketing operation against the New York Central, which stranded 40,000 commuters and cut main line service from Grand Central terminal.

The pink Cadillac played a role in that tieup also. On Monday it carried pickets to Brewster, N.Y., a short distance up the East Side of the Hudson River. Their appearance there heralded the beginning of the New York Central shutdown.

The Central was forced to suspend commuter service and halt its eastbound long distance trains at Albany and Buffalo. Train crews are not involved in the tugboat strike, but they refused to cross the mariners' picket lines.

Moved North

The Cadillac dropped pickets Wednesday at Danbury, New Haven and Stamford, Conn., where operating crews board New Haven trains. The only immediate effect was a 90-minute delay in departure from Danbury of one train, until its crew found a way to get into the yards without crossing a picket line.

Morrison Recommends Two For U.S. Attorney

... KNAPP, NORTON GIVEN NOD

By Don Walton

Gov. Frank Morrison Wednesday said he has recommended the appointment of either William Norton of Osceola or James Knapp of Kearney as U.S. district attorney for Nebraska.

The governor made his comments by telephone from Washington where he is engaged in a series of conferences prior to the inauguration Friday of President-elect John Kennedy.

(In Washington, Bernard J. Boyle, Democratic national committeeman, said 5 Nebraska lawyers have indicated an interest in the post. He included, in addition to Norton and Knapp, John Hanley of Omaha, Phillip T. Morgan of Fullerton and Robert B. Conrad of Genoa. Boyle said he thought party allegiance as well as legal qualifications of prospective appointees should be given consideration.)

Morrison said he "cannot endorse" the appointment of Robert Conrad as district attorney.

The governor's opposition, he said, is based "not on personality, but on policy."

Conrad was administrative assistant to the late Gov. Ralph Brooks, and opposed Morrison for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination last spring.

"I cannot endorse the nomination to this post of anyone too heavily obligated to a political professional," Morrison said.

"His alignment with a man who makes a livelihood out of politics is too deep for him to function as district attorney."

Although he did not specifically say so, the governor referred to Conrad's political contact with Democratic National Committeeman Bernard Boyle.

In addition, Morrison said, "first of all, the district attorney ought to be an active practicing attorney."

The governor noted that he had "no objection personally" to Conrad.

In fact, he said, "he is entitled to a political appointment."

Norton, who has served as Polk county attorney, is a nephew of Evelyn Norton Lincoln, personal secretary to Kennedy.

Knapp, a former Lincolnite and vice chairman of Nebraska Young Democrats, was Morrison's Buffalo County campaign manager.

The governor met Wednesday with a number of national officials, including Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota.

He will confer Thursday with Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn, House Majority Leader McCormack and others.

Lumumba Undergoes 'Pounding'

Jacotville, The Congo (AP) — Patrice Lumumba was locked up Wednesday in this province's most secure prison, nursing cuts and bruises from a severe beating by Katanga police.

The Katanga government of President Moise Tshombe, which seceded from the Congo during Lumumba's turbulent term as premier, announced he was brought to Katanga because the Thysville military camp in the Leopoldville area was not secure enough to prevent his escape.

Troops at Thysville rioted over pay last Friday and Lumumba was freed briefly during the confusion.

Shaken

Apparently shaken by the incident, Congo President Joseph Kasavubu ordered him transferred to Katanga.

Swedish U.N. troops, following orders not to intervene in Congolese politics, did not stop the beating administered Lumumba and two political associates on their arrival from Leopoldville.

"It was sickening," one U.N. solder said. "Lumumba and the other two were dragged off the plane. They had little freedom of movement. Then the gendamerie—African and whites — surrouned them and the Africans assaulted them over a longish period. Lumumba and the other two fell to the ground where they were clubbed, hit in the face with rifle butts, and kicked and pummeled. The gendarmerie let them lie awhile and then resumed their beating."

Junior College Aid Is Sought

RUHNKE BILLS WOULD ASK STATE HELP FOR SCHOOLS

Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth said Wednesday he would introduce a series of bills in the Legislature designed at securing state aid for the 4 junior colleges in Nebraska.

Ruhnke met with representatives of the junior colleges to lay the groundwork for the bills which are expected to follow the recommendations of Dr. Lyman Glenny, California specialist who was hired by the Legislature to conduct a $25,000 study on higher education in Nebraska.

State senators attending besides Ruhnke were Richard Marvel of Hastings, Marvin Lautenschlager of Grand Island, Cecil Craft of North Platte, J. O. Peck of Columbus and H. L. Gerhart of Newman.

The college heads maintained their schools are entitled to state aid because they have students enrolled not only from Nebraska, but also from other parts of the nation.

They also contended students were coming to the schools from widely scattered parts of the state and not just from the locality where the school happened to be located.

Certain Locality

One objection to state aid to junior colleges has been that they serve only a certain locality and consequently do not deserve taxes from residents in other areas.

Under the present system, the junior colleges are entirely supported by a mill levy carried by property owners in the respective districts where the junior colleges are located.

Ruhnke said "chances appear better than ever before" that the state aid proposal for junior colleges will pass the Unicameral.

"It's the trend throughout the United States," he said.

Ruhnke was chief introducer of a similar bill in the 1959 session which was soundly defeated.

He said passage or failure of the proposal greatly depended on recommendations from Marvel's Legislative Council study committee on higher education.

Marvel said his committee recommendations would be presented to the Legislature sometime next week.

Enersen Named To Head Urban Renewal Council

L. A. Enersen, Lincoln architect, was elected chairman Wednesday night of the Mayor's Council on Urban Renewal.

Enersen

Enersen's election was subject to his acceptance, since he was unable to be present for the committee's organizational meeting.

Committee members spent much of the meeting discussing the committee's purpose and goals. The majority of the 17 members favor adoption of an Urban Rewal authority for Lincoln.

But at least one member, Miss Winifred Lewis, has been a steadfast opponent.

As set forth by temporary chairman Pace Woods, the committee should "study urban renewal from every angle; study how it affects the city economically, socially, and so forth."

The committee should report its conclusions and a minority report should be permitted, Woods said.

Move Quickly

Some other members felt the committee should move rapidly to gather information and present it to the public since a vote on formation of an urban renewal authority is expected in either April or May.

Woods said he had found "a great thirst for knowledge on urban renewal."

Committee members agreed generally that the greatest need is to get factual information before the public, as soon as they can inform themselves properly on the subject.

The committee's next meeting was scheduled for Feb. 3.

Friends—Known & Unknown, Lend Hand To Mrs. Manske

By Eric Umland

Persons who have known Mrs. Emma Manske — and those who have not known her — have given her a house in which to live, bought new clothing for her children, and donated money to help her after her home, and most of her belongings, were destroyed in a fire January 12th.

"People near here gave willingly," said a woman who counts Mrs. Manske as one of her best friends "and so many called up wanting to give." This friend collected money from Mrs. Manske's neighbors and when she gave the money to Mrs. Manske, "of course she cried," the friend said.

Another friend, who had not known the Manske's before, took the two children, George, 15, and Georgia, 12, to a store, where he bought them new clothing. The children's clothes were lost in the fire. The manager at the store gave him a discount after the man had explained the problem to him.

And another neighbor had a house which "wasn't being rented at the time," so the Manske's were told they should stay there. "We were glad to do it for her," the neighbor explained.

Mrs. Manske does housework, and since her husband's death 12 years ago, "has sent 3 boys through high school and is sending two younger ones through now," a neighbor said.

"She has been brave," they explained, and she "has never given up." One even commented on the others, saying, "they realized her great need and what a courageous woman she is," and forgot to mention what she had done for the Manske's, too.

Said Mrs. Manske, "This is the best thing that has ever happened to me".

McNamara's Trust Fund Plan Rejected

WRITTEN PROMISE IS DEMANDED

. . . BY COMMITTEE

Washington (AP) — The Senate Armed Services Committee Wednesday rejected the $1.1 million trust fund plan of Defense-designate Robert S. McNamara. He had set it up to avoid possible conflict of interest.

But the committee decided it fell short. McNamara was ordered to file a written promise that neither he nor his fund would own defense stocks while he heads the Pentagon.

The action came during a busy day when Senate committees approved the nominations of 4 members President-elect Kennedy's Cabinet and of Adlai Stevenson as ambassador to the United Nations.

McNamara, however, received only conditional approval. To win full approval, he must file the written promise.

In his testimony Tuesday, McNamara said he would revise his trust plan in any manner suggested by the committee.

"It's a very harsh rule," said Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the committee, but he said the committee also had applied it to Charles E. Wilson, President Eisenhower's first secretary of defense.

Applied To Others

Russell said the rule also applied to 9 other Defense Department nominees who were questioned by the committee in the past two days. They have received conditional approval, pending their written promises to get rid of all defense stocks, Russell said.

McNamara, former president of Ford Motor Co., had sold all his Ford stock when he accepted the designation by Kennedy. McNamara then proposed putting his receipts —$1.1 million after taxes — into a trust fund over which he would have no control.

The trust fund, he said, could invest in companies doing business with the Defense Department but he would have no knowledge or control over this.

The committee decision, however, means "that the McNamara trust could not buy any stock which he could not buy personally," Russell said.

Change May Be Asked

The chairman added that his committee's rule could deprive the defense department of some able men and he would appoint a subcommittee to study the problem and make recommendations for any needed change in the conflict of interest law.

Other Senate committees Wednesday approved the designations of Dean Rusk as secretary of state, Douglas Dillon as secretary of the Treasury, Abraham Ribicoff as secretary of welfare, and Luther H. Hodges as secretary of commerce.

Their formal nominations, however, will not reach the Senate until Friday, Inauguration Day. Senate votes on the nominations are expected Saturday.

Witnesses at 4 separate committee hearings included Stevenson, Hodges, 3 Justice Department nominees, and 7 of the Defense Department nominees.

Stevenson attracted the most attention as he warned that the United States may run into rebuffs and disappointments in the U.N., including the ultimate admission of Red China.

Draws A Laugh

Stevenson, twice-defeated Democratic candidate for president, then drew laughter from an overflow crowd by telling the Senate Foreign Relations Committee he regards himself as "something of an expert in rebuffs and disappointments."

Stevenson delivered a glowing tribute to the U.N. He called it "thoroughly anti-totalitarian" and said its importance is demonstrated by the fact that "when a communist leader wants to bang his shoe on the table — and be heard — he, too, must come to the United Nations."

But, Stevenson continued in response to Republican questions, any view that Red China's admission to the U.N. would make that country less militaristic or less anti-American "is highly optimistic."

"On the other hand," Stevenson added, "it may be impossible to prevent."

New President Should Take Office Earlier, Ike Says In His Farewell

Reds' Hostility Still Biggest Problem, 305 Newsmen Told

By William J. Eaton

Washington (UPI) — President Eisenhower Wednesday recommended a "radical" shakeup in the presidential time-table to permit a new chief executive to take office at least 80 days before Congress convenes.

The outgoing President offered the proposal at a farewell news conference during which he declared that the biggest problem facing President-elect John F. Kennedy and all Americans is the continued aggressiveness of world communism.

Eisenhower also renewed his warning to Americans, first made in a speech the previous night, against letting a military-scientific-industrial elite dominate their lives and government. He said firmly: "I'll tell you we just can't afford to do that."

In Good Spirits

The President, who leaves the White House Friday, was chipper and in high spirits as he bade goodby to the 305 reporters jammed into the conference room. But he grew grim and the lines in his forehead deepened as he warned of the communist danger.

Eisenhower promised to elaborate later on his proposed constitutional amendment to change the timing of presidential elections. But he said a new president ought to have at least 80 days to prepare all the new messages he must send to Congress.

He considered it "silly" to expect a president to take office on Jan. 20, 3 weeks after Congress has convened, and then rush to the House and Senate the various messages and legislation he must submit.

The President is known to favor shorter election campaigns and earlier inauguration of an incoming president. His plan would mean a new legal election date, with the new president moving into the White House some time in October.

No "Arguing"

For the most part, Eisenhower steered clear of controversial issues at his final meeting with newsmen. As he said at one point, he was not "arguing" with anyone. But the news conference brought these statements, opinions and suggestions from the President.

—Summing up his achievements and disappointments, he said his major regret was the failure to achieve world disarmament. Amid laughter, he added that the results of the Nov. 8 election also were disappointing.

—He believed his administration's greatest achievement was in meeting Russian and Red Chinese threats of war with "firmness" and a "readiness to take the risk that prevented those things from happening." He said any display of weakness would have allowed them to spread the Korean War and similar Red moves to "all the earth."

Followed Schedule

—Vice President Nixon did not consult him about the wisdom of engaging in TV debates with Kennedy during the election campaign. Eisenhower also said he campaigned for Nixon exactly on the schedule laid down by Republican leaders.

—He is opposed to big public works projects to help bring the country out of a recession because the money is spent about 18 months too late to help any unemployed. Instead he favors government action like his administration took in 1958 to help the states extend unemployment payments.

—He would be very happy if Congress restored the 5-star rank he surrendered when he entered the White House because it is a memento of his 40 years military service. Also it would give him a title of his own. You can't call someone "Mr. Ex-President."

—His relations with White House reporters have been fine, although he didn't like some "have-you-stopped-beating-your-wife" questions.

—It would be presumptuous to give his personal opinion of Kennedy. But the transition from the Republican to a Democratic administration has been going "splendidly."

First Baptist Church Plans New Sanctuary

At their annual meeting Wednesday, First Baptist Church members learned that architects have completed the first sketch of the general plan for a new sanctuary.

The building will be erected on the church's present site at the northwest corner of 14th and K.

The building fund now stands at $59,391, Chairman David K. Walcott of the edifice planning board reported.

James W. Allard was re-elected moderator for 1961.

Other officers re-elected were Miss Earlene Niday, clerk; Mrs. Arthur L. Hagan, historian, and Dr. Robert L. Fox, Sunday school superintendent.

New officers include Mrs. Gerald W. Fletcher, treasurer; Miss Amy Reed, finance secretary, and Ansel H. McAllaster, assistant Sunday school superintendent.

Dr. Arthur L. Slaikeu, pastor, reported church membership totals 953. In 1960, 39 new members were received by baptism and 83 by letter and testimony.

A budget of $58,425 was adopted for 1961. Last year, total receipts were $53,760.72. Of that, $11,827.34 went to home and overseas missions.

In other money matters, the members voted to give 22% of all 1961 receipts to Baptist World Missions, transfer monthly receipts over $5,000 to the building fund, contribute $2,000 of the 1960 balance to Christian Higher Education Challenge, a fund being raised by the American Baptist Convention, and allocate $1,000 of the 1960 balance to the building fund.

A "Venture of Faith" program in which members give the church the "first fruits" of their time, talent and material means is expected to make a building fund campaign unnecessary.

The program so far has produced $60,830 in pledges for 1961, an increase of 35% over 1960 and 54% over 1959.

In other reports, the church members learned that average Sunday school attendance totaled 351 in 1960, average morning worship attendance was 488 and at evening worship 228.

Named to the various boards were:

'Goodwill' To Latins Launched

New York (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy adopted a goodwill program toward Latin America Wednesday by setting up Puerto Rico as a focal "meeting place and workshop" for improving relations.

Kennedy, two days away from his inauguration, announced the project after conferring here with Gov. Luis Munoz Marin of the Puerto Rican commonwealth.

Before flying back to Washington and the start of the inauguration festivities, Kennedy also had lunch with W. Averell Harriman, who will be his ambassador at large; had a final fitting of his formal clothes, and visited a dentist.

Need Seen

Kennedy issued a statement saying he and Munoz were agreed there was a need for a clearer recognition that the United States understands Latin America's needs.

He called it the "hemisphere's need for a fundamental effort — a revolutionary effort in the best sense — to satisfy the desire of Latin American peoples for a civilization that shall be great materially as it already is spiritually."

Puerto Rico, he said, already has played an important role in advancing mutual understanding.

Laboratory

He said the Caribbean Island has served as a laboratory that enabled thousands of Latin American public officials, intellectuals and students to "observe the remarkable development of democracy and economic growth by a people who have freely chosen to work out their destiny in close association with the United States."

"Gov. Munoz and I," he said, "have agreed to take measures to expand the availability of Puerto Rico's facilities for a meeting place and workshop where we in the United States and our neighbors in Latin America may learn more about our mutual problems and the possibilities for the great achievements that we can attain by working together."

Accounting Post To Kenneth Gray

State Tax Commissioner Forrest Johnson announced the appointment of Kenneth Gray of Lincoln to replace Lowell Hagen who resigned as director of the central accounting system.

Gray is an accountant in the division and was formerly in the data processing department of the Elgin Watch Co.

Gray's appointment will be effective Feb. 1.

Hagen has resigned to accept a post similar to the one he had in the Statehouse. His new job will be with the First Continental National Bank.

—Economic Report—

Outlook Is Good, Ike Feels

Period Of 'Sound Growth' Foreseen

Washington (AP) — President Eisenhower Wednesday painted a rosy picture of the nation's economy and said his administration has laid a firm base for "a period of sound growth."

And Eisenhower placed at the feet of his successor, President-elect John F. Kennedy, the key role in spurring this growth. Without naming Kennedy, the President said the federal policies needed could, to a considerable extent, be achieved "administratively and require no legislative action by Congress."

Final Message

Eisenhower's annual Economic Report — his last big message to Congress—listed 14 "important matters" on which he said congressional action is needed. Most of these, however, he has already called for in one form or another.

None of the proposals could be called an anti-recession measure, such as some economic experts say are needed to spur the faltering economy. Heading Eisenhower's list was a plea to keep his new $81 billion federal budget in balance and keep inflation under control.

The whole tone of Eisenhower's message was opposite to the only comparable document, a report on Jan. 5 to Kennedy by his economic task force.

That Democratic group recommended swift emergency measures to combat the business slump, but cautioned against pushing the panic button.

Big Hike Proposed

Among other things it called for extending unemployment compensation pay, along with other programs to raise federal outlays by $3 billion to $5 billion in the year starting next July 1.

Eisenhower conceded that Congress might supplement jobless pay in "periods of especially high rates of unemployment."

'Business Must Be On A More Human Basis'

Lincoln advertisers were told that "to do the job managers expect of advertising, the business must be on a more human basis."

Phil McKnight, public relations and advertising director of Beech Aircraft Corp., Wichita, Kan., told members of the Advertising Club in a luncheon talk that "the business problems boil down to a person-to-person factor."

"Advertising of today must become part of a general marketing campaign before it is successful," he went on.

Considered one of the experts in the field of advertising, McKnight was named Advertising Man of the Year in 1950, and is president of the Kansas Sales Executive Club.

Chamber Group Promotes 'Plus' Points Of City

The "pluses" of the Capital City will be pointed out in an extensive program by the public relations department of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce.

"Every citizen of Lincoln is a potential salesman for new residents . . . even new industry," publicity chairman Walt Jancke said.

"But no one can sell something to someone else unless he is sold himself. Our purpose in this function will be to 'sell' Lincoln to Lincolnites . . . to convince people of this area that Lincoln is not only a good, but a great place to live."

Bill Would Give Teacher 60 Days For Registration

The Legislature's Education Committee has unanimously advanced to the floor of the Unicameral LB119 which increases from 15 to 60 days the time allowed for teachers to register their teaching certificates.

The bill was introduced by Sens. Marvin E. Stromer, Fern Hubbard Orme and George Knight, all of Lincoln.

—House Rules—

Rayburn Is Victor

Washington (AP) — House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas won a resounding and bloodless first-round victory Wednesday in his fight for control of the powerful House Rules Committee.

At a Democratic caucus markedly devoid of bickering, he rammed through a resolution to boost the committee's membership in a way designed to take away from a coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats control over the flow of major legislation.

The resolution was shouted through at one of the briefest caucuses in party history—15 minutes. It would increase the size of the Rules Committee from 8 Democrats and 4 Republicans to 10 Democrats and 5 Republicans.

Grip Could Loosen

This could break the legislative grip now held by the 4 Republicans and two Southern Democrats. Assuming that backers of Preident-elect Kennedy's legislative program are assigned to the two Democratic vacancies, this should provide easier House sailing for such bills.

In effect, the resolution was a compromise worked out by warring factions to avoid the more drastic step of purging one of the southern Democrats, Rep. William M. Colmer of Mississippi. Rayburn, in his determination to regain control of the committee, had approved the purge procedure as a last resort.

Legislative Bills Introduced

Bills introduced in the Legislature:

LB208. Syas, Gerdes, Bowen, Moulton, Diers, Skarda—Increasing the mill levy for state park purposes from .13 to .35 of a mill.

LB212. Staubitz — Providing that if property is not assessable with a school district, city or village, five-sixths of the intangible tax collected in the county shall be apportioned to the county general fund.

LB213. Burbach, Gerdes, Romans—Including "seller" in list of those liable for inspection of cattle before they are exported out of brand area.

LB214. Burbach, Gerdes, Romans — Specifying that a hot iron shall be used in burning brands into livestock hides.

LB215. Burbach, Gerdes, Romans — Authorizing owner or operator of a livestock ring in county adjacent to a brand area to elect voluntarily to provide brand inspection and come under brand regulations.

LB216. Craft, Rasmussen, Burbach — Redefining qualifications for recognized veterans organizations in Nebraska.

LB217. Ruhnke, Gerdes, Orme—Calling for vote on a constitutional amendment prescribing that in legislative redistricting, primary emphasis shall be on population with weight given also to area.

LB221. Stromer—Providing a procedure for determining when a governor is disabled an unable to discharge duties of his office.

LB222. Orme, Russillo—Requiring state to pay tuition for children of men in military service in grade or high schools.

LB223. Munnelly, Skarda, Orme—Prohibiting unjust discrimination in employment because of age.

LB224. Munnelly—Requiring that political campaign literature shall carry such information as name of author and name of candidates in whose behalf the publication is made.

LB225. McHugh, Vosoba—Authorizing all counties to appoint one or more paid deputy county attorneys.

LB226. Peck, Kjar, Diers—Establishing rate of mileage pay in case of students attending elementary schools outside their own districts.

LB227. Jensen, Erlewine, Vosoba, Burbach, Russillo—Providing method of arriving at value of livestock for tax purposes.

Beatrice Man Appeals Refusal To Grant Trial

A Beatrice man sentenced to 130 days for assault and battery appealed to the Nebraska Supreme Court Wednesday the district court's refusal to grant a new trial on the grounds of new evidence.

The man, La Vern Wolff, pleaded guilty to the charge. He was 23 years old at the time of the events in 1959 from which the charge grew, and was living with his wife and two children in a trailer court on the north edge of Beatrice.

He was charged on a complaint by Luella Gade of Wymore, who was 42 at the time. She said Wolff struck her on the jaw with his fist after both had been drinking beer in a Beatrice tavern.

Wolff's attorney, F. W. Carstens, said the new evidence in the case was an affidavit of Lottie Joseph of Wymore, an eyewitness to the events.

Fidel's Firing Squads Claim 3 More Lives

Havana (AP) — Three members of the Cuban electrical union were executed by the Fidel Castro government Wednesday on charges of sabotage. Announcement of the executions appeared in Havana newspapers.

The deaths of the 3 at La Cabana Fortress in Havana raised the unofficial total number of executions since Castro gained power two years ago to 584.

Three other Cubans were executed Tuesday on counter-revolutionary and terrorist activities.

Executed Wednesday by firing squads were William Lex Sante, Julio Casielles Amigo and Olirio Mendez Perez. They were charged specifically with sabotaging electric installations. A fourth man was sentenced to 30 years in prison on the same charge.

The revival of the Castro execution squads follows the prime minister's threat to deal most severely with those responsible for the upsurge in recent months of bombings and sabotage.

La Cabana Fortress, located across Havana Bay, is crammed with prisoners, many awaiting trial on charges of counterrevolutionary activity and sabotage.

Military tribunals composed of both regular army and civilian militiamen handed out scores of lesser sentences to alleged terrorists and saboteurs.

Ft. Robinson Transfer Needs No More Laws

. . . Rep. Martin Informed By Ag Department

Washington (AP) — Rep. Dave Martin, R-Neb., said Wednesday no new legislation is needed to transfer part of the Ft. Robinson area in Nebraska from the federal to state government.

However, Martin said, such a transfer would need the consent of the secretary of agriculture plus the secretary's favorable recommendation to the Interior Department.

Martin said he received this word from the general counsel's office at the Agriculture Department where, he was told such a transfer would be legally possible under terms of a 1926 law.

His inquiry was prompted by a proposal from the committee on outdoor recreation in Nebraska that the federal government turn over to the state title to all land and buildings at Ft. Robinson which now are under lease to the state.

About 100 acres of the northwestern Nebraska area would be involved.

A beef research station is operated at the site through the University of Nebraska under an arrangement with the Agriculture Department. In turn, the department permits the state to use parts of the area for recreational purposes.

Martin, referring to the necessary secretarial consent, said:

"I am now pushing hard to expedite this matter before the Jan. 20 change in administration, although a complete transfer is not possible until a survey and legal description of the Ft. Robinson buildings in question is received from the state."

9-Month Loss On Beatrice, Horton, Kan., Line $35,997

. . . Says R.I. Official At Rail Hearing

Beatrice (AP) — A Rock Island Railroad spokesman said Wednesday the line lost $35,997 on its Horton, Kan., to Beatrice freight run in the first 9 months of 1960.

The spokesman, Harold A. Miller, Chicago, said that in the same period the Rock Island lost $10,341 on its Fairbury-Ruskin segment. Miller is auditor of costs research for the road.

He testified before a hearing being conducted by the Nebraska State Railway Commission and the Kansas Corporation Commission on the Rock Island's request to reduce freight service on the two segments from 3 times weekly to twice weekly.

A high school basketball game put the hearing out of business Wednesday afternoon.

The hearing was being conducted at the City Auditorium in a room under the basketball court being used by Beatrice St. Joseph teams.

The noise from the basketball court was so great the railroad hearing had to be adjourned at mid-afternoon until Thursday morning.

At the beginning of the hearing the railroad withdrew an application to reduce service on the Beatrice-Fairbury portion of the line.

Communities and businesses along the route were on hand to oppose the service reduction.

Truckers In Nebraska Get 32 Cent Hike

Chicago (AP) — Teamsters Union negotiators headed by James R. Hoffa Wednesday reached an agreement with midwestern trucking firms for pay raises for 200,000 workers.

The increases of 28 and 32 cents an hour over a 3-year period are expected to set a national pattern for an additional 200,000 drivers and dock hands in other sections of the country.

Hoffa said the 3-year hourly increase of 32 cents will go to drivers in Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, the Dakotas, Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri and Kentucky. The 28-cent hike will go to members in Michigan, Ohio and Indiana.

Hoffa told newsmen the union received an over-all benefit package of 42½ cents an hour.

Evidence Not Sufficient To Reveal Felony

Broken Bow (AP)—A coroner's jury has ruled that evidence in the Jan. 8 shotgun death of 33-year-old Richard W. Lindly is not sufficient to indicate a "felony has been committed."

The jury made its ruling at the second of two sessions, during which it heard testimony from a 25-year-old Broken Bow divorcee, Mrs. Velma Maxine Peters.

She admitted holding a .12 gauge shotgun when it discharged, striking Lindly in the chest.

Mrs. Peters told the jury Lindly had been contemplating selling the gun, and she was examining it when it discharged. She said she did not know it was loaded.

Walter Geis, Grand Island police officer who gave her a lie detector test, said the test substantiated her story.

Custer County Attorney John Evans said earlier he would go along with the jury's decision. Evans was out of the city Wednesday and could not be reached for comment.

The shooting occurred in a small house at a trailer court in Broken Bow. Lindly was an unemployed bulldozer operator.

Protein Film Cast From Wheat, Finigan Reveals

The latest progress report on Nebraska's wheat gluten research project indicates that protein films have been cast from wheat, Pearle F. Finigan, state director of agriculture, said.

The project, under way at Midwest Research Institute in Kansas City, Mo., is one of the first entered into under LB722, the 1959 measure to find new uses for agricultural products.

The report notes, however, that the films which have been prepared tend to lose much of their flexibility upon prolonged air drying. Future work on the project will include attempts to overcome this problem.

Nebraska News

In other developments, the northern U.S. Department of Agriculture regional laboratory at Peoria, Ill., has agreed to test the amylose content of high amylose corn grown in Nebraska during the past year.

Work is under way in the department to establish commercial test plots of new crops in co-operation with local chambers of commerce.

Some of the crops that have been suggested for testing this year include sesame, mustard, kenaf, sunflower and guar. The crops all have industrial uses.

Sunflower and seosame are used for oil; kenaf for a pulp source and an industrial gum is extracted from Guar.

Castor Bean Progress

An early effort is being made in the Hastings area to contract the 1961 Castor bean acreage.

If Nebraska is going to grow some 30,000 acres during the coming year, a considerable amount of planning must be done to provide storage, harvesting and handling equipment for the crop. To effectively plan, acreages must be contracted early.

With some farmers in the Hastings area reporting over $80 per acre net profit on last years plantings, it would appear that castor is a crop that should be given serious consideration.

SAC Heavy Bombers 'In Air At All Times'

Omaha (AP) — The Strategic Air Command announced Wednesday that U.S. heavy bombers now are in the air around the clock.

Gen. Thomas S. Power, commander-in-chief of SAC, said the indoctrination phase of the airborne alert training program has been completed and now all combat-ready B52 bomber crews are participating in airborne alert training missions under realistic conditions.

He said an unspecified number of B52s are in the air at all times.

About two-dozen bases are involved in this program by reason of the dispersal of the heavy bomber units. Gen. Power said that more than 6,000 sorties — single flights by single B52's — during the last two years had proven the feasibility of keeping a part of the SAC bomber fleet in the air around the clock.

He said thi program, which involves combat-ready crews, is in keeping with the United States policy of being prepared, and is designed "to reduce to an absolute minimum the time required by SAC bombers to respond to any hostile action by an aggressor."

During an airborne alert training mission the bomber remains in the air for a 24-hour period and is refueled by KC-135 jet stratotankers.

Gen. Power said funds for the airborne alert training program are provided from money previously allotted the department of defense by Congress to develop an airborne alert with "on-the-shelf" capability.

Bonus For The Asking

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Everybody talks about the weather but nobody does anything about it. That well-known statement may be true but there is something you can do about the weather if you want to—what you can do about it is enjoy it. And enjoying it is just what many, many people of Lincoln are doing every day of the current and unexpected warm spell. There are no golfers at Pioneers golf course because the course is closed until March 1 but there is still activity at the course.

It has not only been unseasonably warm of late, but it has been just as dry. It is so warm and so dry, in fact, that the Pioneers course will be watered this week and no problem with freezing water lines is expected. But golf is only one activity at Pioneers. There is also a park there, if there is anyone who doesn't know it, and it isn't the lonely place you might think it would be at this time of year. Last Sunday afternoon you would have found a number of picnickers in the area and hundreds of people driving through and walking over the grounds. What sort of sightseeing is there? Plenty to make the trip worth your while.

Wintertime In The Park

Chances are that when you pass the grazing fields in the north part of the park property, you will see a peculiar looking shaggy goat with just one horn. A freak? Not at all. The poor fellow just has a grudge against the world and lost one horn trying to tear up the fence around his grazing land. He isn't unhappy with his confinement—just plain ornery.

If you see another mean-looking critter elsewhere in the pasture it is probably a guanaco. The big fellow is said to be about as ill-tempered as they come, and for no apparent good reason. Oddly enough, he has an offspring just a few weeks old who is bringing smiles of delight to the faces of youngsters every day at the Antelope Park zoo at 27th and A.

Both a baby llama and baby guanaco are now at the Antelope zoo. Periodically, they are paraded around the halls of the zoo building where they nuzzle the patrons and delight in the gentle patting of a four-year-old. The kids? They love it, as they will love this sort of close association with many animals when the new children's zoo is opened in the summer of 1961. The baby animals are soft, clean and affectionate—they go so well with little children. The wilds have not hardened them and they know only the gentleness of their caretaker who brings them their bottle of milk from time to time—including a middle-of-the-night feeding just like any youngster gets.

Bojo, the delight of all zoo patrons, is still the chimp with the mostest. The fellow really has a lot of personality but he still likes to spit on the customers. His distance and accuracy seem to improve all the time. The running baby guanaco was a hard target at first for Bojo but the chimp has now learned to lead him just far enough to make a direct hit. If you can leave the antics of Bojo long enough, you can get a good closeup look at the tamed crow now among the live bird collection at Antelope. This fellow could talk, you know, but no one has taken the time to teach him anything. But his ignorance, at least, is no fault of his own.

One thing you won't see now at either Antelope or Pioneers is probably something of a rarity. There are triplets at Pioneers—three furry white goats just beginning to get their sea legs. But the weather outside, while good, is still too cold for babies so the triplets are kept in the only place available for them, a shed not a part of the general public's viewing area.

But you can see a number of other uncommon sights. At the duck pond you will find right now a hooded merganser. What? You don't know what a hooded merganser is? For shame! But don't feel badly. If it hadn't been for Park Superintendent James Ager, we wouldn't know, either, that the hooded merganser is a duck and we darn sure couldn't have spelled it without his expert guidance.

She is a duck of normally eastern regions and being wild, probably will leave her Pioneers friends in the spring. Her mate is a gorgeous creature but she has none with her at the moment. Mallards are plentiful on the pond but there are also two rare trumpeter swans, two mute swans and three Egyptian geese—the latter with the most colorful orange eyes you have ever seen. And by the time you get to Pioneers again, a new baby burro will probably have been born as one is expected at any time now. But where there is life, there is death and Pioneers is no exception. Coyotes, it seems, must also eat in the winter and this law has resulted in the loss of 11 ducks to these dog-like marauders.

Eternal Law Of Survival

Wildlife, of course, is just one part of the fascination of Pioneers park. The conifer trees that stand in endless numbers along the park drive and dot the landscape everywhere seem almost defiantly splendid and brilliant against the competition of winter cold. Such sources of intangible personal pleasure as these are indeed an added wintertime bonus.

"Well, It Certainly Won't Hurt To ASK Benson What He's Doing After This Week"

Weak-kneed Red

Of late the reports slipping out of Cuba speak of Castro forces working around in the mountains wiping out little clots of people who are engaged in the early stages of a counterrevolution. The dispatches always say that government forces have the guerrilla forces surrounded, and that shortly they will be no more.

One recalls that for several years the news announced the imminent end of the Castro revolution; that Batista forces had the last remnants of Castroism surrounded up in the mountains and it would soon be all over. The Castro revolution was thus terminated at least four times until to the astonishment of the world, Batista's government took flight as a badly beaten thing. The news today has a familiar ring.

Whether the counter resistance to Castroism is really significant must await the result of future developments. But one thing is in evidence right away. Mr. Castro may have embraced communism but he is an incompetent communist.

When the Reds took over Russia they promptly set forth to kill all people capable of conducting a counterrevolution. They not only purged known anti-Reds but anyone capable of leadership even on the neighborhood level, including quite a few avowed communists who might differ with the ruling clique. The purge included a reign of terror which penetrated even the living rooms of the families. It was an appalling thing but the Reds had the stomach for it.

Apparently Mr. Castro wishes to be a philosophical Red without the bloody hands, which is a mistake many parlor pinks make, not realizing the whole thing is one package. Unless Mr. Castro turns to wholesale murder he is not apt to make his revolution stand up.

An Historic Goodbye

Some people noted in the farewell address of President Eisenhower the presence of an unexpected amount of comment of a politically controversial nature. But the debate over political philosophy has been long and hard in recent months and will be carried on as the new Congress and a new President move the nation on to the next plateau. Thus, the significance of the President's remarks is not to be found in a variety of differences on specific issues.

The thing that should have struck the people most was Eisenhower's few words in regard to what he chose to call the "technological revolution" of recent decades. " . . . in holding scientific research and discovery in respect, as we should," he said, "we must also be alert to the equal and opposite danger that public policy could itself become the captive of a scientific-technological elite."

No one would have even understood what the President was talking about had he used this sentence in remarks three or four years ago. Today, these words are more than a warning—they are an underscoring of the tremendous change that is taking place in the world. The entire world society is growing up and the emphasis is changing from the physical to the abstract.

This fact was further emphasized by a pronouncement this week by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev who affirmed the Russian Communist belief that war was not necessary for the ultimate conquest of free democracies — a conquest, incidentally, which he said was now imminent. Any intellectual elite were in a vacuum four or five years ago in their relationships with society in general but today they are a recognized essential element of survival. Mind rather than matter is more and more becoming the determining factor in our future.

An Unfit Suggestion

Adlai Stevenson, our next nominee for ambassador to the United Nations just said that the admission of Red China "may be impossible to prevent" and amounts to a "probability" at some future date.

Stevenson made this statement before the senators who are considering his appointment to the UN previous to the decision whether or not to confirm him. It was his reply to a suggestion by Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper, of Iowa, that he (Stevenson) had held a consistent position advocating UN membership for Red China. Stevenson denied the position so attributed.

This confusing intrusion into the question of Stevenson's fitness for the job is unfortunate and may become prejudicial. As head of the American delegation Mr. Stevenson would become an instrument of American policy, not the determiner of it, and the question of admission of Red China is one not reserved exclusively to this country, but subject to the decision of the member nations. The country and Mr. Stevenson might be bitterly opposed to admission, but the force of facts over which they have no control could overrule them. What Mr. Stevenson said was that such a force of facts could develop. Reasonable Americans agree that this is a possibility.

As to Mr. Stevenson's fitness for the job it is a matter of his wisdom, diligence and special ability to present the American case before the UN with the maximum possible persuasiveness. The general acquaintance with his special capacities so frequently placed before public view recommends him as uniquely fitted to the task for which he has been selected. The distortion in the Hickenlooper suggestion should be dismissed.

Washington Agog With Inauguration

WASHINGTON—This town presents a picture of pleasant pandemonium It's agog with rumor, afloat with reservationless Democrats, churning with rivalry to be closest to the throne . . . hospital hostesses are chasing beds to sleep Tennessee Williams, John Steinbeck, and the other 300 intellectuals whom Kay Halle sold to JFK as special last-minute inauguration guests . . . society matrons are jealously wondering how Jane Wheeler, beautiful wife of the RCA representative, managed to snare the new president for his first dinner — only eight hours after he takes the oath. Other hostesses-with-the-mostes' are wondering why the K's don't want to dine in their new official home with its retinue of liveried servants, its beautiful state dining room, its well-stocked White House larder . . . the delightful, slightly harassed Jane is also wondering why she let herself in for such a dinner. It was to be only the Kennedy family. But what a family! After the guest list rolled up to 100 she found that she had to include Bobby Kennedy's brothers-in-law, the Skakels; then came the problem of the Frank Sinatra retinue which Pat and Peter Lawford imported from Hollywood. Jane finally drew the line at Sammy Davis, even if Jack's sister Pat had bussed him and called him cute at his wedding to Mae Britt . . . Nat "King" Cole was invited instead.

The turmoil increases. It's pleasant turmoil. Nobody really sore at anyone. After all you don't elect a Democratic president every year, especially the youngest in history. A lot of worries, though. Maj. Gen. C. K. Gailey worries about the horses. Never been so many horses in any previous parade. So there must be an ambulance for horses. Plenty of ambulances for people who fall out along the line of march, but for the first time in history there is also a horse ambualnce . . . another first: first Catholic president in history, youngest elected president in history, first horse ambulance in history . . . still another precedent: the Russians, for the first time in communist history, offered to send a special, top-ranking envoy to the Kennedy inauguration. The offer was turned down . . . other people are worried about beds. Not for horses. Horses will be bedded down at the Rosecroft Raceway and various Maryland stables. But with the deluge of Democrats pouring into a city which hasn't one empty bed in any hotel, maybe cots in schoolrooms are the answer . . . there's a lot of worry — about beds, about horses, about who'll go to which party. But nobody seems to worry much about Ambassador Menshikov's polite, insistent suggestion that he has important problems to discuss with the new administration.

DORIS FLEESON

Nation's Eyes On Defense Secretary

WASHINGTON—In his initial public bow in Washington, President-elect John F. Kennedy's secretary of defense, Robert S. McNamara, amply proved his right to membership in what is planned as a cool, calm and collected administration.

He was all business, and so indeed were the senators of the Armed Services Committee. They had obviously made up their minds that if Kennedy thought him qualified, that ended it. What they pressed on him was that he must avoid a conflict of interest between the operations of his $1.5 million trust fund and his power over defense contracts.

Without being at all contentious, McNamara felt he had provided against such danger. The senators were not so sure, but most of them gave the impression that they were doing their own public relations duty in this field rather than being engaged in a clean-government crusade.

☆ ☆ ☆

These attitudes typify somewhat the present climate here. Very rarely does anyone suggest an emotional commitment to regulatory and reform legislation designed to curb corporate evils and the old Adam in human nature. Some of the most decent and sensible members of Congress believe that many if not all such remedies do not fit the stormy present or the conditions which dictate an economy built largely on enormous defense spending.

Yet they are unwilling to sponsor major innovation, much less repeal of present laws. The boldest step of this kind was taken by Kennedy adviser James M. Landis, the new overseer of the regulatory agencies.

Landis, a veteran of these agencies, stated the problem in a report to Kennedy and suggested remedies. He will be a miracle man if he can get any basic reforms past this Congress, even with Kennedy's wholehearted backing.

If the defense secretary-designate was surprised at the emphasis put by senators on his private interests rather than his qualifications for public service, he gave no sign of it. Obediently, even affably, he followed their lead and tried to allay their misgivings.

☆ ☆ ☆

At 44, McNamara achieved the presidency of the Ford Motor Company, a post he left after a few months to join Kennedy. The Senate hearing clearly demonstrated the competency advertised by his record. The Pentagon goldfish bowl will soon display the next chapters, and Washington has learned to be wary of prediction in matters of this kind.

One of the least successful defense secretaries and also one of the most likable, Neil McElroy, made a brilliant impression at hearings on his confirmation. It appeared that not only would he do a good job at the Pentagon but might prove a Republican potential star worthy of national consideration. Nothing of the kind happened, and McElroy has sensibly returned to a brilliant career in the soap business.

JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

To Your Good Health

"Dear Dr. Molner: What puts color in one's face? I know this requires good food, but what about those who are naturally pale-faced? People who still eat balanced meals? Would iron pills help?—Mrs. K. D."

Generally, exercise and fresh air will pink up your skin. Naturally, over the years, good diet is important. But it is important to your total health, and not to the color of your skin alone.

Ruddiness of the skin is something which varies greatly. Pink (or red) skin isn't necessarily a sign of robust health. After all, how about the tubby, overindulgent fellow who drinks too much, sits too much, and maybe even loses his temper too much? He may have rosy cheeks and a red nose, but not be in the best of health, because he has overindulged.

Dr. Molner

On the other hand, there are people who are naturally pale, yet as completely healthy as anyone else.

Skin color is in part a matter of pigment (white, yellow, red, brown, black.) The "redness" of the skin is another matter. It depends on whether the tiny capillary blood vessels run close to the surface, or do not. It depends also on their size.

Since there are thousands upon thousands of these little blood vessels, the difference in depth (and the difference of thickness and texture of the skin) can make quite a decided difference.

Yet the quite pale and the quite ruddy person can be equally healthy. Maybe we could put it this way: It's the CHANGE in color which is often more important than the actual color.

If one is naturally pale, because of these normal reasons, it does NOT mean that the person has anemia — and hence taking iron to enrich the iron content (or red content) of the blood wouldn't do any good. The blood is red enough, but it doesn't show through quite as much! The only way to determine whether anemia is present is to test the hemoglobin (or iron content) of the blood. You can't tell just by looking at the skin.

To go to the opposite extreme, the red-faced, "hearty" individual sometimes (not always, of course) looks so ruddy because his tiny arteries at the surface are brittle and leak a bit, and look redder than they used to.

You can't measure your health by calculating "how red your skin looks." You can have a pale complexion yet be entirely healthy and live to be 100 years old and happy all the way.

☆ ☆ ☆

"Dear Dr. Molner: Since you have had inquiries about contact dermatitis, I thought it might be of help to mention grease as a possible suspect. After trying for some time to find the cause of my sore and cracked fingers, I finally discovered they were allergic to grease. When washing dishes, especially greasy pots and pans, my hands came in contact with grease almost every day. Now when I touch grease in any way I am careful to wash it off immediately with hot water and soap. I have no more trouble. — Mrs. R. D. B."

Thank you. Your comment just goes to show what unsuspected things can sometimes cause allergy and skin troubles.

☆ ☆ ☆

Note To E. N. F.: I think (and in this agree with you) that there has been too much emphasis on "high potency" vitamins. For your other question, again I agree but would state it this way: As for the amount of vitamins obtained in ordinary food there is no possibility that I can conceive of in which any person could eat enough of any kind of food to get an excessive amount of them.

☆ ☆ ☆

"Dear Dr. Molner: Over a period of years I have occasionally heard that there are foods or remedies that will dissolve or pass gallstones, especially for people too elderly to undergo surgery. Is this true?— Mrs. H. T. P."

No, it's not true. Either for foods or other remedies. There's nothing known that will dissolve gallstones in humans without dissolving the rest of us, too. But keep this in mind: With modern techniques, surgery is now safe for people twice as far along in life as used to be the case. Operations are now being performed with complete success on patients in their 70's, 80's and 90's, and I believe I heard some little time ago of a patient over 100 who came through nicely.

☆ ☆ ☆

"Dear Dr. Molner: I would like to have the name of a salve for a small ulcer of the ankle. — Mrs. J. S."

And I won't name one — because a persistent ulcer of the ankle rarely if ever can be cured just by a salve — any salve. Be wise and have your doctor check you for such things as faulty circulation, diabetes, varicose veins, etc.

☆ ☆ ☆

C.Y.: Anaphia means some abnormality in the sense of touch — either a lack of it, or deficiency, or an abnormally sensitive response.

☆ ☆ ☆

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have lost considerable weight and would like some lotion that will shrink the tissues under my chin to avoid flabbiness. —Mrs. M.B."

I don't know of any such lotion. Massage might help.

☆ ☆ ☆

J.C.B.: Lordosis is a term used for "sway back," or excessive curving of the spine. Overweight, and certain hip deformities are among the principal causes.

Dr Molner is always glad to hear from his readers, and whenever possible he uses their question in his column, but because of the tremendous volume of mail received daily, he cannot answer individual letters.

BOB CONSIDINE

Memories Of Inauguration Day

WASHINGTON — I was born in this town, a comparatively rare feat. As a rule, people don't stay here long enough to multiply.

Consequently, some of my earliest memories are of Inaugural ceremonies, to which all children born in Washington are religiously dragged —often kicking and screaming.

My mother had a deep interest in presidential politics, although as a resident of Washington she lived more than 80 years deprived of the right to vote. She did not let disenfranchisement disenchant her, however. She carried me to see William Howard Taft's inaugural Parade, March 4, 1909. I probably slept through it.

I got to Woodrow Wilson's parade four years later on my own steam. He was a princely looking man in his horse-drawn carriage, undismayed by the discomfort of riding through a whistling sandstorm. It had rained on the morning of the parade, and police sanded Pennsylvania Avenue to keep the parade's countless horses from falling. But before parade time, the sun came out and high winds rose, and countless persons were stung with sand in their eyes. In the ranks of the West Point cadets that day marched Eisenhower . . . Bradley . . . Van Fleet . . .

After the parade my grandfather, a big spender down from Philadelphia, blew us all to a lunch in a restaurant, a hole in the wall along lower Pennsylvania Avenue. It was the first restaurant I had ever been in and I still remember its white tile walls and wire drugstore chairs. My mother ordered fried oysters for me, the first I had had. I took a bite and spit it out, to disapproving cluckings and threats of bodily harm. I still won't eat oysters. God made them to skate on.

The inauguration speech that stands out most in my memory was Warren Harding's. I don't remember a word he said, but I remember what it sounded like. It was the first inaugural address ever amplified. Horns like great black lilies blared from fixed positions in trees around the Capitol area, and they flung the handsome President's voice about with thunderous and scratchy abandon. It was unanimously accounted a miracle. After the ceremony, walking back to our plumbingless house in Swamppoodle, not far from Capitol Hill, we wondered how man could proceed any further.

It rained dismally the day in 1929 when Herbert Hoover came to the throne, but F.D.R. drew good weather every time. My mother regarded Franklin Delano Roosevelt as the Second Coming. She went to her richly deserved reward convinced that if it was raining when Roosevelt entered upon a scene, the clouds would depart and the sun would shine. And she had some impressive anecdotes authenticating these meteorological wonders.

☆ ☆ ☆

I covered Roosevelt's fourth crowning in January, 1945, for INS. It was a lovely day, for January and Washington. The ceremony took place on the graceful porch that stems from the rear of the White House, guarded by a superb magnolia tree. It was short, simple and televised — the first such, if memory serves.

The President looked great . . . in the pink. A few days later, our great old White House correspondent, George Durno, arranged for me to see Mr. Roosevelt in his office. The change in the man was startling. He was ashen and his hand shook lamentably as he lighted his cigaret with a big kitchen match.

He was a dying man, faced with a grueling trip to Yalta. I tried to relate his appearance behind his desk with his apparently buoyant health of a few days before as he faced the cameras and took the oath. And then it dawned: he had been made up.

George Jessel attended the luncheon in the White House after the ceremony in that year of austerity. We saw him later, headed for a restaurant. In his best Churchillian voice, George explained, "Never in the history of man has so little chicken meant so little to so great an amount of salad."

Mr. Truman's inaugural address in '49 was a dinger, for it unveiled his great Point Four. Ike's self-composed prayer on the Capitol steps in '53 was something, too. And then, four years ago, standing where Lincoln had spoken almost inaudibly of "malice toward none," Mr. Eisenhower said, "We honor, in this divided world, the people of Russia. We do not dread, rather do we welcome their progress in education and industry."

You may fire when ready, Mr. Kennedy.

Off THE RECORD — By Ed. Reed

Cardinal Spellman's Plea For Parochial School Federal Assistance Is Challenged By A Lutheran Spokesman

New York (AP) — A clash between Roman Catholic and Protestant leaders arose over recommendations of President-elect Kennedy's study group on education for federal aid to public schools. The group has proposed a $5.8 billion aid program to public schools.

A charge by Francis Cardinal Spellman that it would be unfair not to include church-run schools in such a program was challenged by Dr. Oswald C. J. Hoffman of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod.

"I cannot believe," the Roman Catholic cardinal said, "that Congress would discriminate against Lutheran, Baptist, Catholic or Jewish parents — Americans all — in the allocation of federal funds."

Dr. Hoffman, whose church runs the largest system of Protestant elementary schools in the country, said "let Cardinal Spellman speak for himself. He does not speak for us Lutherans.

"As Americans who accept the traditional American policy of church-state separation, we Lutherans would not feel discriminated against if federal funds were appropriated for public schools only.

"In fact, we think that federal assistance, if there has to be such assistance, should be restricted to public schools."

Informed of Dr. Hoffman's remarks, Cardinal Spellman, Catholic archibishop of New York, said, "That's all right —lots of people disagree with me."

The issue is a long-smouldering one, with Protestant leaders generally opposing government aid to parochial or private schools, and many Catholics favoring it. Others do not.

As the question boiled up, however, it featured a Protestant defending a position that has been repeatedly taken by Kennedy, a Roman Catholic, against using public funds for church-related schools.

Cardinal Spellman told an education-campaign meeting that the denial of government aid to parochial school pupils deprived them of their rights of "freedom of mind and freedom of religion."

"It is unthinkable," he said, "that any American child be denied the federal funds allotted to other children which are necessary for his mental development because his parents chose for him a God-centered education."

Dr. Hoffman, information director for his church and pastor of radio's "Lutheran Hour," said excluding parochial schools from government aid "deprives no one" of their freedoms.

"But attempts to break down church-state separation could very well result in the eventual loss of those freedoms."

Watersheds Bill Is Held Two Weeks

The Public Works Committee agreed to hold for two weeks LB110 which would eliminate the provision that a watershed district may be formed only in an area which includes a city of the primary class.

Lincoln is the only such city in the state.

Mrs. Gervase Francke, Walton, was the only opponent to the measure which she said would extend to the entire state provisions of LB537 "which has many basic faults."

LB537 was enacted in 1959 in connection with the plans for formation of the Salt-Wahoo Watershed District.

Burney Takes Some Budget Items To Task

Lt. Gov. Dwight Burney, who as outgoing governor submitted his own budget proposals to the Legislature, said he generally agrees with Gov. Frank Morrison's recommendations but takes exception to some of the items.

"I don't believe the Board of Control can do an efficient job under his budget," the ex-governor said.

Morrison proposed giving the control board $2.8 million less than Burney had recommended, with most of that saving going to the university.

Travelogue
For 1961

And away you go . . . destined to be the Belle of the resort in the newness of fashions by David Crystal, definitely for women of distinction.

A. Winning admiring glances from both tourists and natives — gingham-touched dress and jacket of linen tweed imported from Belgium. Brown in sizes 8, 12 and 16 or black in sizes 10, 14 and 18. 49.95.

C. A new, glowing shirtwaist for p.m. instead of a.m. in high frequency yellow to set up a hum in sunlands. Luscious silk organza over pure silk habitue. (You saw it on the January cover of Harper's Bazaar.) Montego maize, sizes 8 and 12, or Cafe Au Lait, sizes 12 and 16. 45.95.

GUARD TO GIVE PROGRAM ON COLD WAR STRATEGY

The Nebraska National Guard will present a 3-hour program on cold war strategy to the state Legislature, department heads and others Thursday.

Designed as a "cold war strategy orientation," the program will open with remarks by Maj. Gen. Lyle A. Welch, Nebraska adjutant general.

Included in the program will be a showing of the film "Operation Abolition," said to show "how a few Communists in key locations can, by the use of emotion, create a disheartening and crippling disturbance in any American community."

The film, narrated by members of the U.S. House Un-American Activities Committee, is a consolidation of news films taken during an investigation last spring by the committee in San Francisco, the National Guard said.

Welch said space will be limited in the Senate chamber, but future seminars will be available for those interested.

National Guard Major Billy B. McBride of Omaha, program director of WOW-TV, will speak on "The Nature of Protracted Conflict." He will explain the resources and methods used by the Communist party to accomplish their aims and objectives.

Dr. Gerhardt Niemeyer, political science professor at Notre Dame University, will present "Free World Strategies," past, present and future, "and some of the highly complex factors in making these great decisions," the National Guard said.

"It is imperative that some of these decisions be made on the local and individual level," the National Guard said, and this will be the topic of a presentation by Gen. Welch.

"The struggle is for survival, national and individual. It is complicated and will be protracted. There are no magic, simple or easy formulas. The states of this conflict are: 1. Choice of a form of government between a democracy and a Communist totalitarianism. 2. Choice of a way of life between one guided by moral obligation and one based upon deceit and power. 3. Choice of a way of life between God-fearing or the atheist," the National Guard said.

CATS, DOGS MIX IN BATTLE TO LEAD 'FASHION PARADE'

In keeping with spring colors tending toward yellow and gold tones, some 1,796 of Lincoln's 4-legged pets are donning shiny brass identification tags this year.

With red the craze among the canine set last year, dogs are again wearing brass tags because they ares less expensive and their friends will notice that they have something new, according to Humane Society Supt. Bernard Patton.

However, with styles continually changing, it's likely canine fashion leaders will set the pace toward colored tags again in 1962.

As for felines, tags themselves are an innovation for 1961. Cats no longer have to take a back seat to dogs in wearing apparel.

Some 713 cats have now joined the fashion parade with red heart-shaped tags.

All Lincoln dogs and cats must be licensed by March 1. Tags may be obtained at the Public Welfare office, 3rd floor of City Hall.

Re-elected to the board were H. J. Amen and Lulu Runge, both of Lincoln.

Other directors are Beyon, Mohrman, Verne Hedge and Dr. G. O. Cast, all of Lincoln, and M. W. Ryan of Wymore.

EISENHOWER MOST CONSISTENT

By Arthur Edson

Washington (AP) — Dwight D. Eisenhower is a most consistent man.

Even in his final news conference Wednesday, when he was in an exceptionally affable mood, he still couldn't forget that he's peeved at Harry Truman.

A reporter asked how active a role Eisenhower would take in politics after he steps out of office at noon Friday. Would it be similar to the one played by Truman?

Eisenhower frowned and began, "well, I won't make any comparisons . . ."

Although the words sound innocent in print, and although at no time did he refer by name to the man he succeeded in the White House, his tone plainly showed that ex-president Eisenhower isn't going to take ex-president Truman as a model.

Most Patch

Normally political feuds are easily patched up. But this one, which began back in the 1952 campaign, apparently still stands.

Other than this, you couldn't have asked for a sunnier farewell from the old soldier.

Fittingly for the last news conference go-around, Eisenhower was accompanied by his whole press crew: James C. Hagerty, Anne W. Wheaton, Wayne Hawks and even Robert Montgomery, who has coached the President on how to face television cameras. So far as anyone could remember, this was the first time Montgomery every sat in on a news conference.

Newspapermen collectively fret a lot over what a President thinks of them, and several of the questions dealt with his relations with reporters. Eisenhower seemed amused that some of them felt maybe the questioning at times had been unkind.

"When you come down to it," he said, "I don't see what a reporter could do much to a president, (sic) do you?"

As usual on these occasions, there was a summing up of dreams accomplished and dreams shattered.

Eisenhower, who talked peace so earnestly these past 8 years, confessed that his chief disappointmen. was that he never found an answer, and said his chief accomplishment was that it could have been much worse.

As the questions rolled pleasantly on one couldn't help but look back over these 8 eventful years to that first Eisenhower news conference on Feb. 17, 1953.

Very Unsure

At that time Eisenhower seemed tremendously unsure of himself. He began with a monologue, talking for 17 minutes on such things as the farm problem, Russia and atomic weapons, taxes — subjects that were to be discussed over and over again during the next 8 years.

Since Eisenhower had said previously that he had an appointment he must keep at 11 a.m., only 13 minutes were left for questions.

Wednesday Eisenhower was sure of himself and relaxed. The whole half hour was turned over to any questions any reporter might care to ask, provided he could catch the President's eye before the 30-minute time limit ran out.

Although Eisenhower naturally looks older than he did in 1953, and although he has had 3 serious illnesses, he looks in surprisingly good health.

Maybe we're going to have to revise that old saying about the presidency being a man killing job. Where could you find, for their ages, a more frisky trio than Eisenhower, Truman and Herbert Hoover?

In Truman's last news conference as president he said he hoped reporters would have as much fun with Eisenhower as they had with him.

Well, the final report is in, and the answer of course is obvious. Eisenhower has had friendly relations with reporters, but it has been on more of a formal than a fun-loving basis.

The windup illustrated this. When Truman held his last news conference he shook hands with each of the 257 reporters. Wednesday, with 305 in attendance, Eisenhower closed up shop much more quickly.

There was the familiar grin, a wave — and he was gone.

That Should Help

Havana (AP) — Among numerous import the Fidel Castro regime received recently from Red China were 50 cases of ping pong balls.

Distinguished Service Award Goes To Gold; Battey Is 'Boss Of Year'

William Gold II, of 1001 Fall Creek Rd., has been presented the 1960 Distinguished Service Award by the Lincoln Junior Chamber of Commerce.

A new award, for Outstanding Boss of the Year, was presented to C. Wheaton Battey, chairman of the board of the First Continental National Bank and Trust Co.

The Distinguished Service Award, which went to Lou Roper last year, is presented annually to an outstanding young man of the community for leadership and service.

Gold, a graduate of Culver Military Academy and the University of Nebraska, is president of Gold and Company.

At their annual award luncheon Wednesday, the Jaycees cited Gold for "outstanding work in the Chamber of Commerce, church, Red Cross, Community Chest, retail groups and Gold and Co.

In addition to being a board member of the Nebraska National Life Insurance Co., Gold's many activities include the National Retail Managers Assn., Board Store Management Committee; South Street Temple, United Jewish Appeal; Downtown Development Corp., Midwest Employers Council; Children's Zoo; Chamber of Commerce; Lincoln Industrial Development Corp.; Rotary International; and Shrine.

Immediate past president of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce, he helped organize the program for industrial development which was approved by the state vote in the November election.

Gold also helped set up the Boy Scout Recognition Dinner, and worked as head of the Lincoln Red Cross. He has held several offices in civic organizations.

Battey, recipient of the newly instituted Outstanding Boss of the Year Award, was selected for his civic and community services, as well as business success and cooperation with the JayCees.

He is a past president of the Senior Chamber of Commerce, and served 7 years as chamber director.

His many civic activities include past treasurer for the Community Chest and the Lincoln Development Corp., a trustee of the Cooper Foundation and the University of Nebraska Foundation, past director of the Lincoln Country Club and University Club, as well as a member of the Scottish Rite, Shrine, and director of the Omaha branch of the Federal Reserve Bank.

District Judge Herbert A. Ronin was guest speaker at the awards luncheon. Addressing the JayCee group on leadership, the judge said:

"Leadership is the human factor which binds a group together and leads it towards its goals. It is the combination of traits in a person which enable him to help others get things done.

"The leader arouses in others the desire to accomplish goals and overcome difficulties. Real leadership calls for the active use of our talents for the good of other people."

Judge Ronin concluded with a poem illustrating, through the giving of bread and water to a beggar, how one derives good by helping another.

"As the knight in the poem filled the beggar's tin cup with water, so we need to help others, explained the judge. "Everywhere there are cups to fill, not only in Africa, or Laos, or another foreign country, but right here in Lincoln where we are.

"We have group organization in our social organizations, but we need leaders in these groups to see that the cups are filled. We find these leaders in the young men of our city."

Jaycees Honor Two

Unexpected Protest Livens Public Hearing

The Nebraska Legislature's 9-member committee on the judiciary heard an unexpected protest Wednesday.

The committee had assembled at a public hearing to consider 28 of the first bills introduced in the session, LB2 through LB29, which were prepared by the state revisor of statutes for the purpose of making minor corrections in former legislation without changing the meaning of the laws. All were introduced by the committee itself.

The introduction of such bills is a fairly routine matter, and seldom draws more than brief comment.

The protest came in a speech from Mrs. Elinor Brown of Lincoln (625 S. 56th St.), a representative of the Citizens Movement for Human Rights.

Mrs. Brown objected to the provisions of the state laws giving cities the power to set up urban renewal authorities.

She said the citizens "are being denied our rights" in allowing the mayor to appoint members to the 5-member urban renewal bodies.

The people should have the power to elect the members of urban renewal authorities, she said.

The state revisor of statutes, Walter James, told the committee the bill was written only to clarify the provisions already in the section, and does not change the meaning of existing law.

The bill was held over for further study by the committee, which advanced to the floor 25 of the 28 measures.

The other two held for further consideration were LB3, relating to the formation of weed control districts, and LB25, relating to the formation of fire protection districts.

The bills advanced were LB2, LBs 4 through 11, LBs 23 through 24, and LBs 26 through 29.

National Lutheran Council Pastors Elect Rev. Rogge

Other officers elected were: the Rev. Thomas Damrow, Peace Lutheran, vice president; the Rev. Samuel Herforth, Sheridan Lutheran, secretary; and the Rev. Frederick Nolte, Zion Lutheran, Route 6, Lincoln, treasurer.

In other business, plans were formulated for a 3-hour Good Friday service at the Lutheran Student House Chapel on the University of Nebraska campus. The Rev. A. C. Rueter and Dr. W. W. Alexander will head the planning committee.

NU Episcopal Chapel Shows Good Progress

Satisfactory progress on construction of the University Episopal Chapel's new building at 13th and R was reported at the mission's annual meeting Wednesday.

The Rev. Gilbert M. Armstrong, chaplain, said the chapel will be ready for use by late spring. Services are being held in the interim at the Cotner School of Religion, 1237 R.

The mission's communicants nominated to the Episcopal bishop of Nebraska these officers for his appointment:

Dr. Clarence G. Lowe, warden; Mitchell Kumagai, secretary; Mrs. Bula Harmon, treasurer; Mrs. John Reese and R. D. Mace, members of the bishop's committee.

Mrs. Gilbert M. Armstrong and Mrs. Reece were elected delegates to the annual council. Mrs. Lowe was named alternate.

The finance committee reported the mission began to assume responsibility for part of the chaplain's salary.

Power Cable Trouble Outs Lights In City

Hey! Who turned off the TV set? What happened to the lights? These questions were probably heard in many Lincoln homes Wednesday evening around 5:45 p.m.

The answer was a failure in an underground power cable coming out of the Consumers Public Power District substation at 32nd and South Sts., according to District Superintendent A. A. Olson.

"After the failure occurred, we had to segregate the lines until we found out definitely which one it was," said Olson. "We switched the loads over to other substations, and some areas had power restored in about a half hour."

Olson said the failure affected CPPD areas north and south of South St. at 32nd. Every area affected had had its power restored within an hour and a half or so, the superintendent added.

Farmers Study New Approaches As Fertilizer Men Meet

By Glenn Kreuscher
Farm Editor

An estimated 750 farmers and farm leaders from 4 states attended the 11th annual Fertilizer Dealers Training Conference at Pershing Auditorium Wednesday.

Farmers studied new approaches to fertilization, corn rootworm and weed control and application of trace elements.

Wayne E. Lamke, agronomist, University of Nebraska, called attention to the many factors involved in efficient crop production.

Lamke said, "Production costs can be cut only by increasing efficiency of the farming operation."

Lamke listed fertilizer as the biggest help to the farmer in his effort to realize a greater net return from the acres he has under cultivation.

In 1949, 37,633 tons of fertilizer were used by Nebraska farmers while in 1960 the amount has increased to 330,000 tons, according to Howard Elm, secretary of the Nebraska Fertilizer Institute.

Dr. Orvin C. Burnside, assistant professor of agronomy at NU estimated that 20% of the farmer's income is lost due to weeds.

Information on new preemergence herbicides was presented to conference members by Burnside.

Solutions to control of corn rootworm were aired in Wednesday morning sessions.

Dr. Roscoe E. Hill, chairman of the NU Department of Entomology said "the corn rootworm area is mostly confined to south-central Nebraska, in irrigated fields and in fields which have been in corn two or more years.

Hill's recommendations for cultural practices to reduce corn rootworm damage included: early planting, rotation, hilling corn high for better support, careful irrigation, use of starter fertilizer and nitrogen to help recovery of damaged pot systems.

Farmers conscious of investment loss took careful notes on a speech elivered by Dr. R. A. Olson, rofessor of agronomy at NU

Olson told farmers hey are not getting all tha they should out of their arge investment in nitroga fertilizer.

"Losses of appliednitrogen n many cases are peventing profits that should be realized," Olson said.

He told farmers tat delaying application unti a crop is growing and roo: are actively absorbing nitrogen helps save nitroge:

Norfolk Transport Firm Incorporates

Articles of incorporation were filed in the Nebraska secretary of state's office Wednesday by Nebraska Service, Inc., of Norfolk.

The firm, to engage in the long-distance transportation of meat and other commodities, was incorporated by W. F. Clark, F. L. Clark and D. E. Reeves, all of Norfolk. It was authorized to issue $100,000 in capital stock.

DAMAGE SUIT IS APPEALED

The transcript on an appeal of a damage suit growing out of a 1959 auto collision at the top of a hill west of Plattsmouth was filed in the Nebraska Supreme Court Wednesday.

The action was started by Harold Buick against Weldon E. and Elmer L. Stoehr. Buick sought $154,225 for injuries and other damages resulting from the accident.

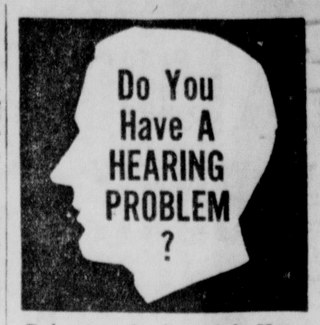

He was the driver of a car which collided with one driven by Weldon Stoehr and owned by Elmer Stoehr. The district court awarded Buick $27,500 damages, and the Stoehrs appealed.

U.S. Joins In Nixing Cambodia's Laos Proposal

Washington (AP)—The United States has joined Britain and France in politely turning aside a Cambodian proposal for a 14-nation East-West conference to try to halt the war in Laos.

A formal reply sent to Prince Norodom Sihanouk earlier this week was understood to have thanked the Cambodian neutralist leader for a sincere effort to solve a situation with dangerous implications for his own country.

While leaving the door open to a peace conference later, the United States was reported in favor of other means for halting the fighting in the little Southeast Asian kingdom.

The State Department Wednesday announced that the note had been sent but did not reveal what it said.

This came after President Eisenhower, at his farewell news conference, blamed the Soviet Union as the main cause of the trouble in Laos by its support of the revolt of Communist elements.

"At the moment there is no point of course of going into a conference unless everybody thinks this would be a good idea," Eisenhower said.

"You cannot haul anybody into a conference."

Sihanouk has sought to bring together at the conference table such countries as: the Soviet Union, Communist China, Poland and North Viet Nam in the Communist bloc; the United States, Britain, France and Canada among the Western powers; neutralist India, Cambodia and Burma, and anti-Communist Thailand, South Viet Name and Laos.

The United States is backing the pro-Western government of Premier Boun Oum while the Soviet Union and its allies have supported rebel forces.

Eisenhower said it might serve a useful purpose to reconvene the International Control Commission composed of India, Poland and Canada provided that could be done under proper auspices.

He made clear that the United States still considers it necessary that the commission recognize the present pro-Western government which has been given parliamentary approval.

The reconvening of the commission has run into a major obstacle over the recognition of Boun Oum. The Soviet Union as well as India and France still regard deposed Premier Souvanna Phouma as the legal head of government.

Diplomatic sources here indicate there are a number of other formidable obstacles to be overcome before the commission can be reconvened. The Indians, for example, want authority to declare a cease-fire in Laos but this authority is not granted under the 1954 Geneva agreement which created the commission.

GATES TELLS IKE DIRECTIVE HURTING MORALE OF U.S. OVERSEAS MILITARY

Washington (UPI) — Defense Secretary Thomas S. Gates Jr. told President Eisenhower Wednesday that his directive reducing the number of military dependents overseas was having a serious effect on armed forces morale.

Gates said in a letter to the President that "relief should be sought as soon as feasible."

Eisenhower assured the defense secretary that he hoped steps would be taken to relieve hardship cases resulting from his Nov. 16 order drastically reducing the number of dependents who could remain overseas.

The President, who leaves the White House Friday, also wrote Gates that close attention should be given to "any possibility of making some reduction of our forces deployed overseas" to reduce the number of servicemen separated from their families.

The exchange of letters, made public by the White House, was interpreted by Pentagon sources as an indication that the directive may be drastically modified or canceled after President-elect John F. Kennedy takes office.

Eisenhower's original order called for a reduction in the number of military dependents abroad from 484,000 to 200,000 on a gradual timetable. This order was later revised to permit about 265,000 dependents to remain overseas.

Gates protested that other federal departments and agencies were not planning to reduce the number of civilian dependents "significantly." This fact has increased the adverse impact on service men's morale, Gates told the President.

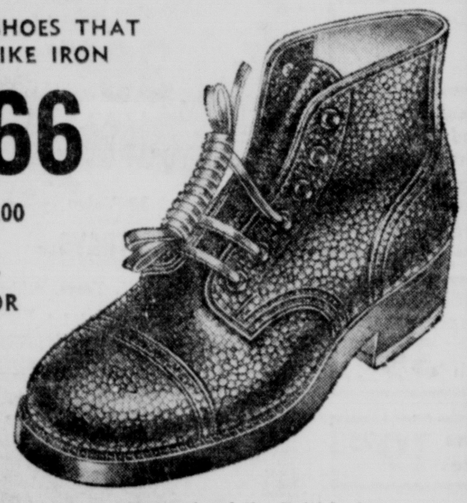

Eisenhower said he had always agreed that in the long run Defense Department personnel must get "comparable" treatment with other departments of government. He said all federal agencies had been ordered to trim their staffs and the number of dependents overseas wherever possible.

The president also said attention should be focused on any improvement in the U.S. balance of payments. An excess of spending overseas which led to a drain on U.S. gold and dollar reserves was the main reason for Eisenhower's order for withdrawal of dependents.

Inauguration Facts And Figures Almost Endless

By D. Harold Oliver

Washington (AP) — Facts and figures on Presidents and their inaugurations are virtually endless. Here are some of the more interesting:

John Fitzgerald Kennedy is the youngest ever elected, at 43, and the second youngest to be inaugurated. Theodore Roosevelt was 42 when he succeeded William McKinley in 1901 after McKinley's assassination.

☆ ☆ ☆

Kennedy is the first Roman Catholic to be elected, and the second to be nominated by a major party. Alfred E. Smith was the Democratic standard bearer in 1928. (A splinter group called the "Straight-Out Democratic Party" nominated a Roman Catholic, New York attorney Charles O'Conor, as its presidential candidate at Louisville in 1872. He declined the nomination, but was not permitted to withdraw, and polled 29,489 votes in the election, in which U.S. Grant was re-elected.

☆ ☆ ☆

Other religious facts: Nine Episcopalians became President, the first being George Washington and the most recent Franklin D. Rooosevelt. Presbyterians rank next, with seven. Three professed no denominational connection — Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln and Andrew Johnson.

☆ ☆ ☆

Dwight D. Eisenhower, finishing his two terms at the age of 70, plus 98 days, became the oldest of any President while in office. He topped the record of Andrew Jackson who was 69 years and 354 days old when he completed his 8 years in 1837.

☆ ☆ ☆

Kennedy will be the 35th president but only the 34th person to occupy the White House. Grover Cleveland served two non-consecutive terms.

☆ ☆ ☆

Kennedy is the sixth Harvard man to become President. The others were John and John Quincy Adams, Rutherford B. Hayes, Theodore and Franklin D. Roosevelt. Nine presidents did not attend college, including Washington, Jackson, Lincoln, Cleveland and Truman. Three (Jefferson, Monroe and Tyler) were graduates of William & Mary; two (Madison and Wilson) went to Princeton, and two (Grant and Eisenhower) were West Point graduates.

☆ ☆ ☆

With Kennedy's inauguration, 3 former Presidents are living: Eisenhower, Truman and Hoover — more than at any previous time in this century.

☆ ☆ ☆

John Adams lived the longest of any President. He was 90 years and 247 days old when he died on July 4, 1826. Three others, Madison, Jefferson and John Quincy Adams, lived beyond 80. The youngest at death was James Garfield, assassinated in 1881 at the age of 49.

☆ ☆ ☆

George Washington used only 135 words in accepting his second electioon on March 4, 1793. This was the shortest inaugural speech. The longest was by William Henry Harrison who used 8,445 words, almost twice as many as any other President.

☆ ☆ ☆

Joseph Nathan Kane in his "Facts About the Presidents" says of the 43 past inauguratiions that 26 were held in clear weather, 10 in rain and 7 in snow. The snowy days were in 1817, 1821, 1833, 1841, 1853, 1893 and 1909. (snow was on the ground at some others, but there was no snow falling at the time of oath-taking, such as in 1945.)

☆ ☆ ☆

President-elect John F. Kennedy is known to many as "Jack," but he prefers "Kennedy" or "JFK" in newspaper headlines. All Presidents have had one or more nicknames or sobriquets. Here are a few:

☆ ☆ ☆

Harrison used the personal pronoun "I" 45 times for a record. The only President who did not use the perpendicular pronoun was Theodore Roosevelt. The average inaugural address wordage in the 43 to date is 2,500.

☆ ☆ ☆

Kennedy will be the eighth President with a background of service in both Senate and House. Garfield served in the House and was elected to the Senate, but declined the latter in December, 1880, having been elected President. Six served in the House only, 5 in the Senate.

☆ ☆ ☆

The National Geographic Society is authority for this: Only 3 retiring Presidents — John Adams, his son John Quincy, and Andrew Johnson — have declined to attend the inaugurations of their successors.

The United States has only 6% of the world poupulation, but has nearly 70% of the automobiles.

Mexico City's lowest street is more than a mile higher in altitude than the top of New York's highest skyscrapers.

Cop Dog's Life Ends With Boot

Rome (AP) — A police dog's lot is not a happy one.

You work like a dog for your two-legged superiors, win a kennel full of medals for tracking down criminals, and then they kick you out of the service. They say you're too old.

That's the sad fate of Dox, a 14-year-old German Shepherd, who has been on Rome's police force since practically a pup, and his strapping son, Dox II, who is 11. They're Rome's most famous policemen.

For years Dox and son have been in the newspapers for tracking down Rome's criminals. They are credited with 172 arrests and have 8 gold and 22 silver medals to show for it.

They have got far greater public acclaim than any two-legged members of the force.

Police credit Dox with a long memory. They said that once he walked into a wineshop and flushed a criminal for whom he had been given a scent 6 months before.

The accompanying policeman thought Dox had made a mistake, apologized, but took the man off to headquarters anyway. Fingerprints showed Dox was right.

But as it must to all policemen, retirement came to Dox and son. Without ceremony, police turned them over to Prince Antonio de Curtis, an actor, who will give them the run of his estate.

If the dogs took the trouble to look at the newspapers, they no doubt enjoyed the sendoff they go in Il Paese.

A cartoon showed Dox and son wearing Sherlock Holmes hats and puffing Sherlock Holmes pipes being kicked out of police headquarters.

Said the caption:

"They're just jealous."

The morning being bright and crisp and full of good health, have decided to give up smoking again. Correction: I have decided again to give up smoking.

This is a worthy ambition — so worthy that I do it over and over. And though I have never given up smoking. I do feel worthier. That is something.

"A custom loathesome to the eye, harmful to the brain, dangerous to the lungs," wrote James I of England in his "Counterblaste to Tobacco."

"And in the black stinking fume thereof, nearest resembling the horrible Stygian smoke of the pit that is bottomless."

With that horrible thought, let's go to press.

☆ ☆ ☆

Not all of my resolve was pure. I have been testing "The Cigarette Case With Built-in Will Power."

This amazing gadget (for people without built-in will power) came to me at Christmas. I forget who sent it. But he is a fiend.

This will-powered cigarette case has a time lock.

You set the time lock and the case will not open until that time has passed.

This is not only a wonderful thing for a smoker. It is a wonderful challenge.

☆ ☆ ☆

Well, I set the blasted thing — taking out one cigarette to brood on first. I set it for a half hour. ANYBODY can go a half hour without smoking. Anybody but me.

The instant the lock clicked, I needed a cigarette.

The spare cigarette had been smoked down to the filter. But fortunately I was able to find a medium size butt in the fireplace. With a little dusting, it turned out quite well. In fact, I think the ashes improved the flavor.

☆ ☆ ☆

The case proved to be quite reliable. It opened again on the half hour.

I had a full cigarette before even thinking of locking it again. No use going after these things too rapidly, I always say.

While I had it, I thought of the joys of giving up smoking.

I could refuse cigarettes offered to me saying:

"Thanks, I never use them."

I detest people who say that. But I would like to do it to someone else.

Or else I could say:

"Thanks. I gave them up 10 years ago."

☆ ☆ ☆

I took out one cigarette — just in case. I relocked the little box and set it for a half hour. I smoked the spare right away so that I would not be bothered with having to use will power against that.

Would you believe it? Only 10 minutes of the half hour passed, but it seemed quite long. I even telephoned the telephone company to see if my watch was running slow.

At 20 minutes past the half hour, I searched the fireplace again. There were no medium size butts. But I did find one that worked pretty well. I had to put a toothpick in it.

On the half hour, the will-powered case opened again. I left it open.

I think I will not go into this too swiftly. Easy does it. Tomorrow, tomorrow — there's a day to begin.

State Revokes The License Of Surety National Life Insurance Company

By Virgil Falloon

The license of the Surety National Life Insurance Co., Omaha, was revoked Jan. 4, but a spokesman said the company is making financial arrangements under which the license can be reinstated by the State Insurance Dept.

State Insurance Director Frank Barrett confirmed Wednesday that the company's license had been revoked.

The revocation order was issued by former Insurance Director William E. Grubbs on Jan. 4 after hearing that day. Barrett took office Jan. 5.

Asked why no announcement had been made, Barrett said it was apparently the department's feeling and hope the company could take the necessary steps to correct the financial impairment without general publicity.

He said the usual notices were sent to the insurance trade.

In the wake of public disclosure of the revocation, Robert J. Dross, Surety National executive vice president, issued this statement:

"The company is now in the process of complete reorganization and present policyholders are not in jeopardy, but are completely protected by our re-insurance carriers.

"We expect to complete a financial arrangement within the new few days under which the license can be reinstated by the insurance department."

Barrett explained that after license revocation, the company has a statutory period of 40 days in which to correct the financial impairment before the department could seek a court authorization to intervene in company affairs for the protection of policy holders.

In his revocation order following hearing, Grubbs held the company, primarily engaged in casualty insurance, was in such financial condition and capital impairment that "further transaction of business would be hazardous to its policyholders, creditors, stockholders and the general public."

The 1959 Summary of Insurance Business in Nebraska, an insurance department publication, showed Surety National collected $1,268,691 in premiums during 1959 with direct losses of $639,483; admitted assets of $559,000 and a surplus of $309,444.

Ordered To Stop

Barrett said department records show that on Dec. 23 the company was ordered to stop writing further policies and stockholders requested to make good the amount of impairment or reduce the capital value of stock.

An order was issued Dec. 28 for the company to show cause why its license should not be revoked and hearing was held Jan. 4.

Barrett said no other revocations are pending and this case was the first of its type in some time.

The company confirmed it is represented by John Binning, a Lincoln attorney, in the proceedings.

Binning is a former state insurance director and member of the law firm of Crosby, Pansing, Guenzel and Binning.

His office reported him out of town on business and unable to be reached.

Old Age Payments Average $78 Apiece

Payments of old age assistance for December totaled $1,146,634 and averaged $78 for 14,695 cases, the State Board of Control said.

Aid to dependent children amounted to $361,157; aid to the blind to $76,801; and aid to disabled to $159,176.

Resolution Recognizes Civil War Centennial

A resolution recognizing this as the Civil War centennial year was adopted Wednesday in the state Legislature.

The resolution introduced by Sen. Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln establishes a Nebraska Civil War centennial commission members will be appointed by the governor and "shall have authority to establish and organize local centennial committees throuout the state.

A 39-0 vote approved the resolution. No appropriation of funds is involved.

The Byzantines anticipated modern rocket warfare with a device employing a mixture of petroleum and saltpetre.

LINCOLN, Nebr.—Mrs. Harold Huey, 3747 South 17, says: "We can't say enough for Baker's Hair Tonic. We both had a terrible case of dandruff, but Baker's Hair Tonic cleaned it up in just a short time." It's so easy and pleasant to use. Not messy or greasy like most so-called dandruff remedies. Use it any time, anywhere. No Federal excise tax on Baker's Hair Tonic, because it's a specific for dandruff. Your dandruff and itchy scalp worries are "all over except the shouting" when you start using Baker's Hair Tonic. Morrison Urges Chamber Leaders To Meet Challenge

Gov. Frank Morrison charged state Chamber of Commerce managers to "meet the tremendous challenge of industrial, agricultural and tourist expansion in Nebraska."

"The image local chambers project within the community will create a great impact both on citizens and on prospective industrial organizations."

Speaking at the concluding luncheon of the Nebraska Chamber of Commerce Managers' winter conference, the governor assured delegates of the "cooperation of my office to promote the healthy and dynamic expansion of Nebraska's economy through chamber programs."

"Recognized nationally as the Number One state for industrial potential, the chambers must help to make the most of our opportunity for development," he urged.

In addition to being top prospect for industrial sites, the governor pointed out that the state's undeveloped water resources are the "big drawing card" to be utilized in also making Nebraska the top agricultural state in the union.

"Along with development in these two areas," he added, "we must make the most of the nation's growing urge to get into the wide open spaces and rolling prairies."

"Development of our tourist potential is vitally important to our economy," he emphasized.

Earlier in the day, Jerry Pratt, northwest division manager of the United States Chamber of Commerce, told delegates:

"Enthusiasm is the Number One reason for success as a manager; laziness the Number One reason for failure."

"'Shiny pants' are the biggest reason managers lose their jobs," he went on, "while enthusiasm is infectious."

JFK Confers Regularly With Congressional Leaders

Editor's note—working up a legislative program is one thing for a new administration. Getting it enacted is another. The following article, last of a series, considers the incoming administration's strategy and prospects with the congress.

By Relman Morin

Washington (AP) — An incoming president usually can count on at least a brief "honeymoon" with Congress, but John F. Kennedy conducted an ardent political courtship in the hope of prolonging this happy time.

He sent his private airplane to bring speaker of the House Sam Rayburn to a conference.

As he formulated his legislative program, he conferred regularly with Congressional leaders who might have a special interest in its separate parts.

Notified

Before announcing an appointment, he usually notified interested parties in Congress and in the state capitals.

Over the telephone, he introduced J. Edward Day, his choice for Postmaster General to Sen. Olin D. Johnston, D-S.C., chairman of the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee.

All this reflects Kennedy's 14 years experience in the Hause and Senate. He is acutely conscious of the delicate relationship between the executive and legislative branches of government.

Moreover, in Vice President-elect Lyndon B. Johnson, he has a strong right arm to help him get his program into law. As Senate majority leader, Johnson distinguished himself as a masterful strategist and persuader.

Looking Ahead

It may very well be, in fact, that when he asked Johnson to be his running mate he was looking far ahead, and was aware not only of Johnson's value in the election, but on "the hill."

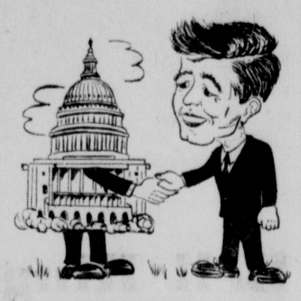

For example, there was this exchange in Kennedy's first news conference as president-elect:

Q. "Sir, do you credit Sen. Johnson with a substantial contribution to your victory?"

A. "I do. I was delighted that he agreed away back in July to run . . . I think his part in it (the election) was most important. And what is even more significant, I think he will play a major role in the next administration."

No Hundred

Kennedy indicated, however, that he does not expect anything like "The Hundred Day." This was the electrifying period in Franklin D. Roosevelt's first administration when Roosevelt rushed through a receptive Congress much of his massive program for the New Deal.

In reply to a question about that most spectacular of all "honeymoons," Kennedy said:

"The situation in '33 and the situation today are somewhat different. The Democratic majorities in the House and the Senate in '33 and today are different. But I hope and expect that a majority in the House and Senate and in the administration will be able to work together effectively."

The skies ahead are not cloudless.

Get Action

It is generally believed that Kennedy will get action from Congress in the 5 major areas of legislation he advocates—aid to depressed areas, federal aid to education, housing, a plan for medical care for the aged tied to the Social Security system, and a $1.25 minimum wage.

But it also is generally expected that there will be fights on all, or portions, of some of these bills from a coalition of conservatives among both Republicans and Democrats.

Again, Kennedy is known to advocate career diplomats as ambassadors rather than giving the embassies to wealthy political contributors. But to do that, the "representation allowance" for an ambassador would have to be increased by Congress for most professional diplomats because their salaries usually do not cover the entertainment expenses.

Kennedy discussed this with Rep. John Rooney, D-N.Y., at Palm Beach in December. Rooney is chairman of the House Appropriations Subcommittee which handles these funds. In the past he has called the funds for entertainment "booze allowances."

But after his talk with Kennedy, Rooney said he agreed with Kennedy's position on the career men. He predicted Congress will appropriate sufficient expense money to permit them to serve as ambassadors.

Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, however said, "if the march of the 'new frontiers' (as Kennedy calls his program) depends upon the more lavish wining and dining of stuffed shirts here and abroad, then I suggest that Congress eliminate the 'frontiers.'"

There may be rough sledding, too, for some of Kennedy's nominees for high office before they are confirmed.

He named Dr. Robert C. Weaver, a Negro, to be Housing and Home Finance Administrator. In this office, Weaver would direct the multi-million-dollar federal housing programs.

A week after the announcement, Sen. A. Willis Robertson D-Va., said he would oppose the appointment. Robertson is chairman of the Banking Committee.

New Hampshire's two senators, Republicans Styles Bridges and Norris Cotton, indicated that they will closely question Chester Bowles about his views on Red China. Bowles is Kennedy's nominee to be under-secretary of state.

Developments in all these matters may determine the length of Kennedy's expected honeymoon with Congress. The combination of his and Johnson's skills in dealing with Capitol Hill may preserve it for quite a while. But things move fast these days.

In a speech before the Massachusetts Legislature recently, Kennedy set forth 4 qualities as characteristic of that state—courage, judgment, integrity, and dedication. He said:

"And these are the qualities which, with God's help, this son of Massachusetts hopes will characterize our government's conduct in the 4 stormy years that lie ahead."

Dear Abby—

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl of 15 and have gone with boys for two years. I didn't realize until reading your column that boys like to be seen in public only with girls they respect. It sure hit home to me. Boys would ask to meet me "later." They would take me out to park, but never ask me to go any place where we could be seen. Your warning came too late for me, but it woke me up.

I am trying to improve my reputation. But how can you refuse to park with a boy once you've parked with him? Am I hopeless?

TRYING TO IMPROVE

DEAR TRYING: You are certainly not "hopeless." You've already conquered the first two steps in self-improvement. (1) Recognizing the need for improvement. (2) Determining to improve. Now, flatly refuse to park. If the boy seems surprised, tell him you've changed your way of living. Then, look ahead to a rosier future. Rome wasn't built in a day, and neither is a good reputation.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: In a December column you quoted "A. R. K." who said, "more wild birds and game starve to death or are killed by weather or other wild animals than by hunters . . . an arrow or a bullet is a merciful death."

Following that logic, more people are killed by automobiles than by hunters. If an arrow or a bullet is a merciful death, the hunters should shoot one another. And I hope they do.

O. G. K.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: Our problem may sound trivial to you, but it is driving us wild. Our neighbors are nice people, but they have two teen-aged boys who play basketball between their house and ours. They have a net on their garage which is only a stone's throw from our window. My husband is retired and he and I are home all day. As soon as these boys come home from school, all we hear is "thump, thump, thump." When it gets dark, they turn on the yard lights and play at night. They know no season. They shoot for baskets and dribble 12 months of the year.

It may seem like a foolish reason to sell a house, but what else can we do? We hate to report this to their mother.

THE NEIGHBORS

DEAR NEIGHBORS: Ask the boys and if they can't find another place for their net, offer to buy them a new one and even to put it up for them. Teen-agers respond quicker to direct, frank complaints than to those routed through their parents.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♦	Pass
3 NT

Opening lead — five of hearts.

This hand occurred in a team of four match, but what happened could have taken place just as easily in a rubber bridge game.

At one table the bidding went as shown. West led a heart and East won with the ace and returned a heart. The defense quickly wrapped up six heart tricks and South went down two despite the 31 high-card points held by his side.

It is hard to censure South for the unfortunate result. Looking at only the South hand, it does not seem unreasonable to rebid three notrump over the diamond response. It figures to be the winning bid in the great majority of hands.

Thus, if North had held the jack of hearts in place of the queen of spades and K-J or diamonds — a much weaker hand — nine tricks would have been absolutely certain. Or if the hearts had been divided differently, game in notrump might easily have been made.

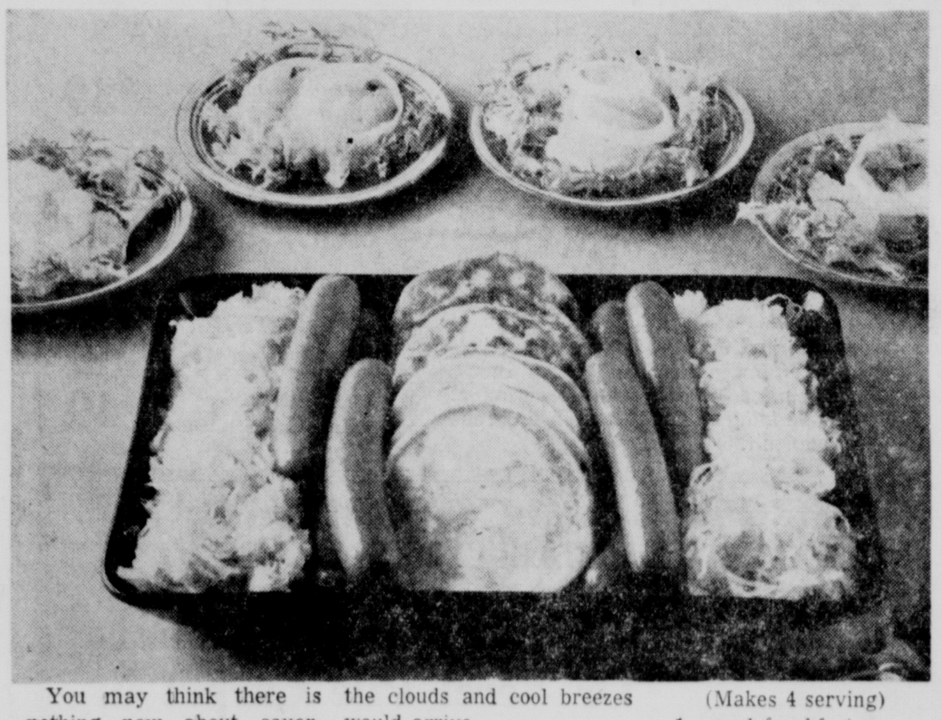

It could be argued that South should have jumped to three clubs instead of three notrump, and that the best contract of five clubs would thus have been reached.

The sole objection to this contention is that three clubs is not ordinarily treated as a forcing rebid, but merely as an invitation to responder to bid again.

At the second table the bidding followed exactly the same pattern when South jumped to three notrump over the diamond response. But at this table North apparently thought more highly of his hand than did the previous North. He raised three notrump directly to six no-trump.

The bold bid paid off. West, on lead, thought it was much to dangerous to open a heart against such strong bidding. He therefore made the neutral lead of the ten of spades and South romped home with every trick to score 1,470 points and bring his team a net gain on the deal of 1,670 points.

FROM OUR KITCHEN

You may think there is nothing new about sauerkraut and frankfurters—Right you are, there isn't. But when you add Cottage Cheese pancakes to sauerkraut and frankfurters — that's news.

We've been hoarding this recipe against the day the sandwich and sliced tomato weather would depart, and the clouds and cool breezes would arrive.

Certainly we have no thought of hastening the advent of winter's normal behavior — but the day will come when this recipe will be just what you have been wanting.

Kraut and Frankfurters with Cottage Cheese Pancakes

(Makes 4 serving)

1 pound frankfurters
1 teaspoon caraway seed
2 cups sauerkraut
1 pound cream-style cottage cheese
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon dehydrated parsley flakes
1 egg
¾ cup sifted all-purpose flour
¼ teaspoon baking powder
1-3 cup melted shortening

Cook frankfurters in boiling water 10 minutes. Add caraway seed to undrained kraut and heat. Combine cheese, salt, pepper, parsley flakes and egg in electric blender or electric mixer. Blend well. Mix in flour and baking powder. Drop ¼ cup full batter into melted shortening and cook until golden brown on both sides. Serve pancakes with kraut and frankfurters.

Or — if your's is a non-pancake family, try this combination:

Baked Potatoes, Kraut and Frankfurters

(Makes 4 servings)

3 cups seasoned mashed potatoes
1 egg, beaten
1 tablespoon prepared mustard salt and pepper to taste
2 cups sauerkraut, drained
1 cup grated processed American cheese (about 4 ounces)
1-3 cup thinly sliced scallions.
1 pound frankfurters

Combine potatoes, egg, mustard, salt and pepper, kraut, cheese and scallions; mix well. Turn into buttered 1-½-quart shallow baking dish. Top with frankfurters. Bake in moderate oven (350°) 35 minutes.

A Valentine

Yield: Three 9-inch layers (heart-shaped)

1 cup margarine
2 cups sugar
4 eggs, separated
3 cups sifted cake flour
3 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
Red food coloring

Line bottoms of three 9-inch heart-shaped layer pans with waxed paper. Cream margerine and sugar together until light and fluffy. Add beaten egg yolks. Blend well. Sift flour with baking powder and salt. Add alternately with milk, adding flour first and last. Beat well. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and vanilla. Pour 2-3 batter into 2 2 prepared pans. Color remaining prepared pan. Bake in a moderate oven (375 F.) about 25 minutes.

To Prepare Filling: Whip 2 cups heavy cream. Fold in ¼ cup sugar, ¼ cup candied cinnamon hearts, and a few drops peppermint extract. Place whipped cream mixture between cake layers arranged with the pink layer in the center.

Frosting: Cream ½ cup margarine. Add 3 cups sifted powdered sugar, ¼ cup cream, 1 teaspoon vanilla, and ¼ teaspoon red food coloring. Beat until smooth and creamy. With a spatula or table knife spread the frosting on the sides of the cake first and then the top.

With Pork Roast—Try This

What is more delightful, delicious and delectable than a beautifully cooled pork roast? Well, to our way of thinking there is nothing more delightful, delicious and delectable than pork roast when it is served with Potato Apple Bake.

Now Potato Apple Bake is a brand new idea — the brain child of a cook with imagination and a know-how when it comes to appetite appeal.

Our cook also knows how to save wear and tear on the homemaker because actually all you really need for this wonderful accompaniment for roast pork is a jar of apple sauce and some instant whipped potato flakes.

Here is what you do—and how you do it:

POTATO APPLE BAKE

(Makes 4 servings)

1½ cups water
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter
½ cup cold milk
1 envelope Instant Whipped Potato Flakes
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon mace
1 (15-oz) jar applesauce
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons bread crumbs

Combine water and salt in medium-size saucepan; cover; bring to boil. Remove from heat; add butter and milk immediately; then the instant whipped potato flakes. Stir gently with fork or wire whip until liquid is absorbed; whip briskly. Combine cinnamon, nutmeg and mace; blend well with applesauce. Place potatoes in center of well-buttered casserole; arrange applesauce around potatoes. Melt butter; add bread crumbs; mix well. Place buttered crumbs on potatoes. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about 20 minutes. Serve with roast loin of pork.

Bill Would Set Procedure In Governor Disability

A bill aimed at forestalling the possibility of having a disabled governor at the reins of state government was proposed in the Legislature Wednesday by Sen. Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln.

His LB221 spells out procedure which would be followed in determining the ability of a governor to carry on as the state's chief executive in the event the question of disability arose.

A 3-man board consisting of the attorney general, the dean of the University of Nebraska College of Medicine, and the director of the Nebraska Psychiatric Institute would have the responsibility of making the determination.

The board would make public their finding.

Stromer's bill provides that the person next in line to succeed the governor could call for an inquiry.

If the governor were declared disabled, duties of the office would pass on to the next in line, normally the lieutenant governor.

Under the bill, when the governor felt that he was able to assume his duties, he could request another examination by the board.

After the late Gov. Ralph G. Brooks suffered a stroke early during his administration two years ago, there was some sentiment expressed in favor of a law which would spell out clearly the procedure to be followed when doubt expsted as to the governor's capability to carry on.

A legislative redistricting measure, LB217, smacking of controversy was among others submitted in the Unicameral Wednesday.

It was introduced by Sens. Arnold Ruhnke, Plymouth, George C. Gerdes, Alliance, and Fern Hubbard Orme, Lincoln.

It calls for submission to the voters of a proposed constitutional amendment providing that in redistricting of the state "primary emphasis" should be placed on population "but that weight may also be given to area."

The Legislature is authorized by the constitution to increase its membership to 50 but has not seen fit to do so since the Unicameral became operational in 1937.

Sen. George Syas of Omaha has said he and Sen. Michael Russillo, also of Omaha, are working up a redistricting measure to increase membership of the Legislature. Syas said Wednesday their proposal will redistrict along county lines as much as possible with the main emphasis, however, on population.

Also thrown into the legislative hopper Wednesday was LB208 which would increase for 10 years the state park mill levy from .13 to .35 mill. Introducing the proposal were Sens. Syas, Moulton, Gerdes, Kenneth L. Bowen, Red Cloud, H. K. Diers, Gresham, and William Skarda, Omaha.

Passage of the measure has been described as being of paramount importance by State Game Commission Director Mel Steen. He said the increased levy is essential if the state is to improve and expand its park system.

Steen takes the view that development of state parks and outdoor recreational opportunities should go hand-in-hand with the state's drive for industrial expansion.

Another bill, LB223, would prohibit employers from discriminating against persons for employment merely because of their age.

The measure was introduced by Sens. John Munnelly and William Skarda, both of Omaha, and Sen. Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln.

BILL ON BASIS FOR TAXING LIVESTOCK IS INTRODUCED

A bill establishing the annual average inventory as the basis for taxing livestock in Nebraska was introduced in the Legislature Wednesday.

Sponsors of LB227 were Sens. Hans O. Jensen of Aurora, Dale Erlewine of Grant, Joe T. Vosoba of Wilber, J. W. Burbach of Crofton and Michael Russillo of Omaha.

Livestock presently is taxed on the basis of value of animals on hand as of Jan. 1, the tax assessment date.

Under the proposed new law, a livestock owner would calculate the number of animals in his possession or under his contract in each of the 12 months of the year and use the average as the tax basis.

A constitutional amendment approved by voters last November authorizes the Legislature to adopt some new method of taxing livestock.

Merle Beattie's Evacuation Successful, May Be Improved

By Eric Umland

According to Dr. Steven N. Watkins, Supt. of Lincoln Schools, none of the city school buildings "could withstand an atomic bomb blast."

And about the only safeguards the schools have are the old "duck-and-cover" drills where the students hide under their desks, Dr. Watkins said.

The question now is whether the other Lincoln schools will follow the successful lead given them by Merle Beattie elementary school.

Merle Beattie held a trial evacuation after school hours last Dec. 20th. The school cooperated fully with the PTA Civil Defense Committee and at 3:15 p.m. the children were released to get home as quickly as possible, without panicking or running across the streets.

Results Good

The results of the trial run were better than expected, according to Donald Nelson, PTA civil defense chairman. Time slips passed out to the students before the evacuation showed 99% were home in 16 minutes or less. Only two children took longer than that.

The average time it took for the students to put on wraps and leave the school was 1½ minutes.

But Nelson looks for the time to improve even more. He believes that with pep-talks and one or two more drills, the children will be able to make it home averaging a minute for each block they live from the school.

Map Used

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson have drawn up a map which is now in Merle Beattie school, showing each street and house in the Merle Beattie school district. The homes in which the students live are marked with the length of time it took them to reach home.

Most students within 2½ blocks of the school reached home in about 5 minutes, those within 5 blocks in 10 minutes and those within 7½ blocks 15 minutes.

Nelson hopes that by looking at this map and seeing how each student did as compared to another, the children will try to do even better on the next drill.

Several Reasons

Nelson said the evacuation plan was accepted for several reasons. The children's daily trip home from school is practice, he noted, students and parents would want to be together in times of distress, and the plan offered a fast dispersal from a spot that would be congested if several hundred parents and students were searching for each other.

Nelson, who works for the Soil Conservation Topography Dept., said that he and his wife "were not particularly interested in Civil Defense"—at first.

But then the question of their children came up — the Nelsons have two, both attending Merle Beattie — and their parents decided that "they deserved a chance."

"You can't ignore them," Nelson said, and added that he thought it was because of the children that the drill had turned out so well. "Parents will sacrifice a lot for the children," he said.

"Our next step is to press the parents into building bomb shelters," Nelson went on, but to him the job looks hard, though not quite impossible.

Committee Airs Request For Probe Next Wednesday

The Legislature's Banking, Commerce and Insurance Committee will meet next Wednesday to consider a resolution calling for an investigation of the State Department of Insurance.

The committee huddled in closed session Wednesday to arrange the meeting.

Next week's session will be an executive committee meeting, Chairman John Munnelly of Omaha said.

Munnelly introduced the resolution which would open the investigation.

Eiche Gets Petitions For Airport Authority

Petitions for the Lincoln Airport Authority were taken out Wednesday in the name of Fredrick A. Eiche, the election commissioner's office reported.

Eiche, associated with Walt-Sweeney-Eiche Insurance Co., could not be reached for comment.

SAC Leaders Explain Missile's Role At York

York—"We face an enemy tremendously more dangerous to our way of life today than we did in the 1940's — an enemy dedicated to our annihilation," said Colonel Thomas G. Corbin at York Wednesday.

The colonel, commander of the 818th Air Division at Lincoln Air Force Base, headed a 3-man Strategic Air Command team speaking at an informative public meeting at York. York is one of 12 communities within a 50-mile radius of LAFB where construction is already underway on the "silo" type Atlas Missile sites.

The colonel reminded his audience that for the first time in history a potential enemy has the capability to launch direct attack against the United States.

"To counter this threat," he said, "SAC has maintained for more than a decade, a combat-ready alert system which provides the United States with an instantly ready retaliatory force capable of destroying an enemy's war-making capability."

He pointed out that ballistic missile sites such as the Atlas sites being constructed in Nebraska, will take their place alongside the manned jet bombers in providing our country with the modern mixed force necessary to maintain our security.

"The Strategic Air Command must spread its forces over vast areas remote from military activities" to maintain dispersal of retaliatory forces, he said.

Frederick J. Childress, of Convair-Astronautics, discussed with the nearly 700 people in attendance statistics about the missile site.

Lt. Col. Frederick H. Marsh, missile maintenance officer at LAFB, concluded the program by explaining a missile would never be fired from a site unless the United States is under attack and then only upon the President's order.

Ex-Eagle Star Given 3 Years

. . . SALARY TERMS NOT LISTED

Minneapolis-St. Paul (AP) — Norm Van Brocklin, the colorful Dutchman who carried the Philadelphia Eagles to the pinnacle in the National Football League, Wednesday was named head coach of the new Minnesota Vikings.

Van Brocklin's appointment under a 3-year contract ended a 4-month quest by the Vikings for an established pro football figure to direct them in their inaugural year in the NFL.

He steps into the coaching ranks 3 days after his valedictory as a player. Appearing in the East-West NFL All-Star game Sunday the 34-year-old quarterback hurled 3 touchdown passes.

Salary terms were not revealed.

Youngest Coach

Van Brocklin becomes one of the youngest head coaches in the NFL. Behind him is a 12-year career of professional stardom that was climaxed in 1960 with the Eagles' championship.

"Among Norm's greatest qualities as a player," Vikings general manager Bert Rose said, "is his demonstrated ability of leadership.

"As a new team in a tough league the Vikings will require the maximum degree of leadership and direction of a squad that will be youthful in its makeup."

Van Brocklin called his new undertaking "a tremendous challenge but also a tremendous opportunity."

Talent Search

One of his first chores, he said, would be to take a hard look at the NFL rosters to help in the selection of 36 players who will be made available to the Vikings as their bedrock talent for the 1961 season.

Van Brocklin's appointment came less than two weeks after he severed connections with the Eagles, irritated at not being offered the head coaching job to succeed the retiring Buck Shaw.

The Dutchman contends he was promised the Eagles' No. 1 job 3 years ago when he joined the club. He refused an offer earlier this month to be playing assistant coach with the Eagles.

The deal with Van Brocklin was concluded after the veteran star and Viking ownership held long huddles Tuesday night. Winnipeg's Bud Grant, regarded as the No. 2 prospect for the job, pulled out of the running earlier Wednesday.

Sideline Coach

The Dutchman will be strictly a sideline coach with the Vikings. "At no time had we given any thought to employing a playing coach," Rose said.

Van Brocklin's appointment unites the coach with another former Oregon star, George Shaw, who will be the Vikings' No. 1 quarterback in 1961. Shaw was acquired last week from the New York Giants.

Van Brocklin joined the Los Angeles Rams in 1949 and teamed 4 seasons with quarterback Bob Waterfield. The Rams won 3 division titles in that stretch and Van Brocklin directed them to another division crown in 1955.

He announced retirement in 1957 but was traded to the Eagles the following season and changed his mind.

24 TD Passes

In driving the Eagles to the title last season, Van Brocklin hit 153 passes in 284 attempts, and had 24 touchdown strikes.

A native of Eagle Butte, S.D., Van Brocklin lives with his wife and 3 children in Valley Forge, Pa.

He said he has already given some thought to his choice of assistants but is not ready to name them.

—CAN'T HAVE SHARMAN—

Pittsburgh Drops NBA Franchise

. . . QUITS AFTER ONE DAY

Pittsburgh (AP)—Pittsburgh pulled out of the National Basketball Association Wednesday after a stay of less than 24 hours.

In announcing the club's withdrawal, franchise owner John Harris said he was sure he could "find some other way to invest a quarter of a million dollars in something new without so many headaches."

The NBA just Tuesday night had announced that it would expand from 8 to 10 teams in the 1961-62 season with new clubs in Chicago and Pittsburgh. Harris had been awarded the Pittsburgh franchise.

The ice show impressario said he had decided to go into basketball only because he thought he had hired Bill Sharman as his coach. Sharman is a veteran backcourt star of the league's Boston Celtics.

However, both Sharman and Celtic owner Walter Brown denied Harris' announcement that Sharman would be the Pittsburgh coach.

Jumped Gun

"I either jumped the gun or misunderstood Walter when I made the announcement," Harris said. "This mix-up on the Sharman deal convinces me that I know nothing about basketball or the NBA. That's why I'm pulling out."

Harris, who heads the Pittsburgh ice hockey club which returns to the American Hockey League next season, said he sent a telegram to NBA president Maurice Podoloff, informing him of Pittsburgh's withdrawal.

When informed in New York of Harris' action, Podoloff said he thought it was all the result of a misunderstanding.

Still Hope

"I think that after a cooling off period, we still may be able to reach an agreement between Mr. Harris and Mr. Brown," Podoloff said. "I have known both for a long time and they are good friends of mine.

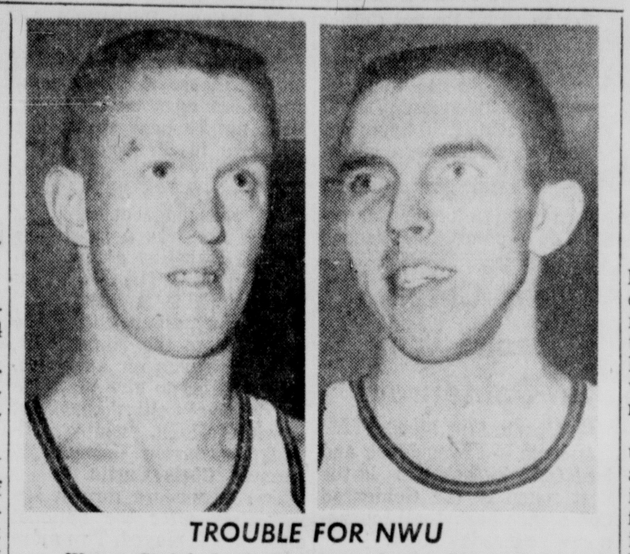

"We still have hopes of putting an NBA team in Pittsburgh. We have seen difficult situations like this ironed out before."

Meanwhile, Pittsburgh's hopes of eventually getting a team in the NBA were kept alive by another district sports promoter, Eugene Litman.

"I am definitely interested in getting an NBA franchise in Pittsburgh," Litman said after hearing that Harris had pulled out.

Knows Nothing

"I have been aware of my lack of knowledge of basketball before," Harris said in announcing his withdrawal, "but I am now convinced more than ever that I know nothing about the game.

TROUBLE FOR NWU

Wayne State's leading scorers, Larry Coney (left) and Charles Rachow, will be the main problems for Nebraska Wesleyan when the two teams meet Saturday night in Lincoln. Coney, 6-6½, is averaging 17.2 points per game and Rachow, 6-6, averages 16.6.

Ag Committee OKs Turkey Hunting Bill

. . . GAME-FISH MEASURE ALSO ADVANCED

The Agriculture Committee Wednesday advanced to the floor of the Legislature a bill authorizing the hunting of wild turkeys in Nebraska.

The measure was advanced on a 7-0 vote after it was amended to prohibit the use of rifles in hunting the birds.

Omnibus Bill

In other action, the committee advanced (8-0) an omnibus bill altering game and fish provisions.

LB114, providing a per diem salary for 4 members of the Nebraska Agricultural Products Research Committee, was held until next week pending amendment to set a ceiling on such expenses.

LB117, introduced by members of the Legislative Council study committee on outdoor recreation, would allow the Game Commission to establish regulations for turkey hunting.

Frank Foote, Game Commission supervisor, told the committee that turkeys now are classed as game birds much as are ducks and geese.

Exotic Sport

But turkey hunting, he said, is "a special and exotic sport."

The proposed law would treat turkeys as deer and antelope are treated for hunting purposes. Turkey permits would cost $5 for residents, $15 for non-residents.

Game Commission director Mel Steen said turkey hunting might be possible by the spring of 1963. Initial hunting probably would occur in the Pine Ridge area in northwest Nebraska.

Steen also testified in favor of provisions of LB104, the game and fish measure.

It related to minnow seines, provisions for taking fish from private ponds and like matter.

Sen. George Syas of Omaha, chairman of the Legislative Council study committee, appeared in behalf of both measures.

LB114 would provide $20 per diem and actual expenses for members of the agricultural research committee, excluding two ex-officio members.

The measure was amended in executive committee to exclude provisions changing the committee from an advisory to an administrative unit.

I-State Recovery Tips Drake 71-70

. . . CYCLONES ERASE BIG DEFICIT

Ames, Ia. (AP) — Iowa State overcame an 8-point second half deficit to nip Drake 71-70 in a spirited non-conference basketball game between the long-time Iowa rivals Wednesday night.

Drake missed 4 last-minute field goal attempts which would have given the victory to the Bulldogs.

Iowa State trailed 38-34 at the half and Drake built its margin to 50-42 before Henry Whitney scored 5 straight points for the Cyclones and finally put Iowa State ahead 58-57 with a jump shot.

The teams battled to a 68-68 deadlock with 2:30 left, when Whitney hit a pair of free throws and John Ptacek added another for the Cyclones.

Billy Hahn pulled Drake within a point by connecting on two free throws but the Bulldogs were unable to find the range with their desperation attempts.

Victory gave Iowa State a 7-6 season mark. Drake now is 10-4 for the season.

Marv Torrence, tall Drake junior, was the top scorer with 21 points. Gus Guydon added 17 for Drake.

Whitney scored 20 for Iowa State with Ptacek adding 18 and Gary Wheeler 15.

Welu Sets Record In Keg Meet

San Bernardino, Calif. (AP)—Billy Welu continued his blitzkreig tactics in the finals of the All-Star Bowling Tournament Wednesday night, swamping his 3rd round opponent with a record 249-207-257-275—988 series.

Welu's hapless opponent was Dick Weber of St. Louis, who rolled a respectable 804 series while absorbing a 4-game loss.

Welu won 3 out of 4 from Joe Joseph of Detroit in the second round with a 900 series. His latest barrage boomed the St. Louis star's Petersen point total to 64-12. He was 6-05 points ahead of second place Ed Lubanski of Detroit.

The previous record for 4 games in the finals was 976, rolled by Ralph Smith of Los Angeles in 1949.

John Powell Jr., a slow starter in the finals, came up with a 940 total in the 3rd round to take 4 straight from Joseph.

Powell's big series, the second best of the current tournament, went unnoticed by the huge crowd that cheered Welu's every strike. His big 3rd round output elevated Powell from 13th to 6th.

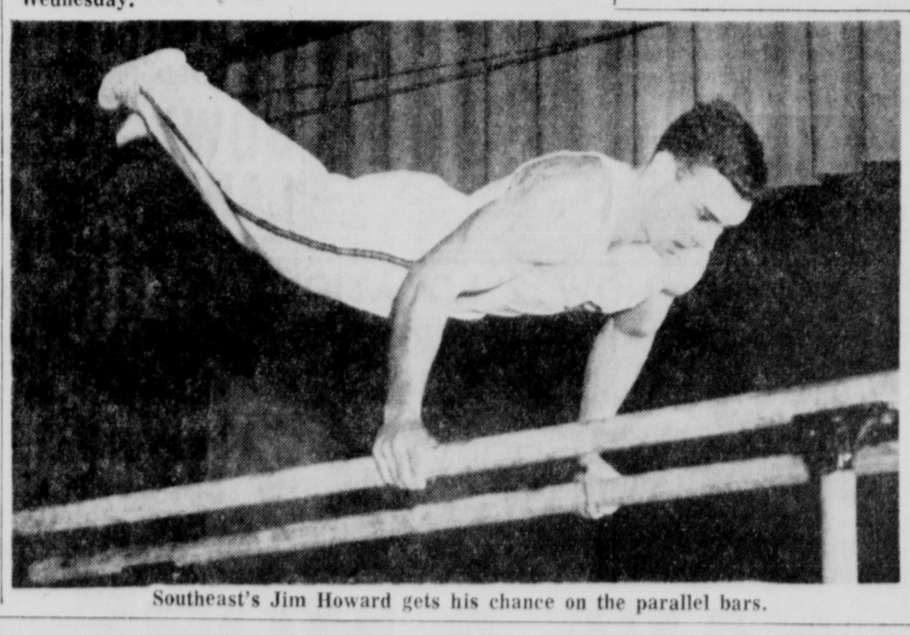

Helen Shablis of Detroit moved into the lead in the women's division after 6 straight wins. Hope Riccilli of Downey, Calif., slipped from first to second place.

Mrs. Shablis boosted her pin total to 1,191 to give herself a Petersen point total of 29-41.

Good Weather Seen In Crosby Golf Test

. . . VENTURI BEGINS TITLE DEFENSE TODAY

Pebble Beach, Calif. (AP) — Warm, sunny weather on this Monterey peninsula Wednesday brought predictions of low scoring in the $50,000 Bing Crosby golf tournament when Ken Venturi begins defense of his title today.

Storms usually increase the difficulties in this 72-hole event played over 3 courses, but the weatherman says it will be clear at least through Saturday.

In this exacting golf test, longshots seldom come through as the winner so the pre-tourney favorites are such stars as Venturi, Arnold Palmer, Art Wall and Jay Hebert.

All except Palmer have won here and Arnold, golfer-of-the-year 1960, arrives after winning the past week's tournament at San Diego.

Palmer fired a warm-up 71, one under par, on the seaside Cypress Point course.

In the pro-amateur division, Palmer pairs with Dick Groat, captain of the world champion Pittsburgh Pirate baseball club, as the amateur field includes outstanding figures of entertainment, sports and business.

Wall draws another baseball notable, manager Alvin Dark of the San Francisco Giants as his partner. Venturi pairs with his pal Harvie Ward, former National Amateur kingpin.

The Crosby actually combines two tournaments in one —the pro-amateur and individual pro. In the former, the amateur's handicap can help the team. Groat gets 9 strokes, Dark 6, and Ward 4.

3-Course Tourney

The field of 300 plays each of the 3 courses — Pebble Beach, Cypress Point and Monterey Peninsula with 50 teams touring each course the first 3 days. Sunday's televised final will be over Pebble Beach.

Hebert won the individual title in 1957 and the following year teamed with Roger Kelly of Los Angeles for the pro-amateur crown. He drew the same partner this time with Kelly playing to a 5 handicap.

Warm-up rounds brought the predictions of a low scoring tournament if the sunshine remains. Fred Hawkins fired a 5-under-par 67 at Cypress Point and Ernie Vossler had a 68 there.

Wall Under Par

Wall didn't keep score for his round at Monterey Peninsula but figured he was a few under par.

"That doesn't count except to bring confidence," he said. "Things are different after the starting bell rings."

SOCCER STRIKE IS CALLED OFF

London (AP) — England's big league soccer players Wednesday called off their scheduled strike, set for Saturday, after reaching an agreement with club owners over wages and contracts.

Minister of Labor John Hare announced the peace pact, reached at an 11th hour meeting in ministry offices, but did not reveal terms of the agreement.

Represenatives of the players, who number some 2,700, met with the owners for 4 hours.

TEXANS SIGN JERRY BROWN

Dallas, Tex. (AP) — Jerry Brown, former Nebraska Cornhusker who last season was named the outstanding service player in the country, has been signed as a free agent by the Dallas Texans of the American Football League.

Brown, a 6-0, 200-pound fullback and linebacker, has won All-Army honors during the past two years playing for Brooke Army Medical Center at San Antonio.

Thieving Crows Bring Gambling

London (AP) — Birdies and eagles didn't enter into a bet struck by two English golf clubs—but crows did.

Reason: Both clubs have had balls pinched off the fairways by crows.

South Herts Golf Club, near London, complained about the birds. So did Wilmslow, in Cheshire.

Result: A bet by Wilmslow that the crows will pinch more balls from their course in January than from South Herts.

IF NEXT BOUT IS DRAW:

Fullmer Proposes Rest, 15 Rounds

West Jordan, Utah (AP)—Gene Fullmer says he has figured out how to get around Nevada's boxing laws, if Sugar Ray Robinson is sincere in wanting to avoid another draw.

Fullmer suggested Wednesday, mainly for the record, that if the Feb. 25 bout in Las Vegas is a draw, the boxers rest 30 minutes and fight another 15 rounds.

Robinson fought the NBA middleweight champion to a draw in Los Angeles Dec. 3. He asked Nevada officials to provide for a sudden-death round should the Las Vegas bout end the same way.

Nevada athletic commissioner Jim Deskin told Robinson that state law prohibited a fight of more than 15 rounds.

Fullmer's manager, Marv Jenson, says the NBA titlist is sincere about this one being a fight to the finish. And the Fullmer-Jenson camp reported new reasons for strengthening Gene's hold on the 48-state title.

Jenson said he received a letter from German promoter Fritz Gretzschel offering Fullmer a tax-free $100,000 purse to meet European middleweight king Gustav Scholz somewhere in Germany, probably next May.

Scholz won his European title a year ago from Charles Humez. Jenson said Humez gave Fullmer one of his toughest fights when they met in Madison Square Garden 3 years ago.

Fullmer is sparring every day but Thursday and Sunday.

"It will be an unpredictable fight," says Jenson. "Gene says last time he fought my fight, I held him back, and this time it's going to be his fight.

"Gene says he'll either knock Robinson out or get knocked out."

HOW 'BOUT THAT?

Gravesend, England (AP)—Two golf balls, hit from different tees, collided in the air —and Gravesend golfers are wondering if it's a world record.

April Cloudburst May Bring Worst

San Francisco (AP) — Willie Kirkland, Cleveland outfielder, Wednesday was ordered to pay $160 a month to a divorcee pending the birth in April of a child she claims he fathered.

Superior Judge Joseph Karesh reserved final judgment on the paternity issue until Mrs. Margaret Edward's baby is born and blood tests are made.

Brown Sees Bucs Better In '61

Pittsburgh (AP)—General Manager Joe L. Brown predicted Wednesday his 1960 world champion Pittsburgh Pirates should be even better in 1961.

Brown was host at a mid-winter luncheon for sports writers and broadcasters. The guests included pitcher Roy Face, catcher Hal Smith and second baseman Bill Mazeroski.

The trio of World Series heroes (Face saved 3 games and Smith and Mazeroski homered in the deciding game) looked trim and ready to play.

Brown took time out at the luncheon to announce Smith had agreed to terms for next year. It was Smith's homer in the 8th inning that put the Pirates ahead in the final game.

Mazeroski hit the game-winning blow in the 9th after the New York Yankees rallied to knot the score.

Looking back over the 1960 season, Brown said the rest of the National League clubs had underestimated the Pirates and felt they would fold in the stretch drive.

Brown

"The reason we won last year, and there were a lot of reasons," recalled Brown, "is that our boys probably had the will to win more than any other club."

Brown admitted the Pirates were not a power club but he pointed out the Bucs hit 69 homers in 77 road games—the exact number as hit by opposing clubs.

The handsome son of comedian Joe E. Brown declined to predict a pennant. He said Milwaukee apparently has improved, San Francisco should be better—"there is no doubt Frisco did not have unity in 1960," and Los Angeles "should be feared and respected as much as any team in the league."

"But we're not going to surprise any clubs," said Brown with tongue in cheek. "We'll have to give more than 100 per cent in repeat."

As for contracts, he said he had not had any difficulty yet in signing any players. As for trades, he said nothing was on the stove "right now," but added:

"Most of the trading is done in the spring and before the season opens. We won't trade for the sake of trading, but I have an open mind."

Wagner Still Pessimistic

Ran into Ron Wagner of Syracuse, Sunday Journal and Star "Coach of the Year" last year, at the Pius X-Sioux City Heelan game the other night.

When I asked him about his team this year, he said:

"You can't stay up there forever."

Seems to me he told me the same thing after his opening game last year, but his Rockets turned around and fooled nearly everyone by winning a second straight Class B title.

This year, Syracuse was dumped hard by Class C power Weeping Water in the opener, but hasn't lost since. The opposition has been all Class C, however.

Competition in the Southeast Border tourney this week should give a better line on Syracuse chances for a 3rd title. The Rockets have a great performer in 6-2 veteran Bill Witty, and Ron says the other boys have begun to give more help.

Heelan Dandy Changeable

Speaking of the Pius X-Heelan game, which was a real dandy, Heelan's Creighton Fleming scored 31 points, but had gotten only a single free throw the night before against Sioux City East.

He couldn't miss at Pius.

It begins to look like Pius might come along and give some bigger schools—namely the 3 Lincoln public high schools—trouble in the district. The Thunderbolts need to learn consistency.

And University High also appears on the move in Class B.

Annual MUDECAS Visit

I made my annual visit to the MUDECAS tournament in Beatrice last week, and as usual, enjoyed the tourney.

The MUDECAS is always a good tournament with close competition. The schools are paired in 3 classes in December, off their records, meaning each class has a close field.

The "coffee room" supplied for coaches, officials, etc., always provides plenty of good conversation at the MUDECAS. Only a flat tire on the way marred this year's trip.

I don't know how often the explanation of the tourney's name has been given, but we always field a few phone calls asking what it means.

So, MUDECAS, is a combination word taken from Music, Declamatory, Athletics and Scholarship.

Seems to me they might have called it the MUDCATS.

Scottsbluff Host Pueblo

Pueblo Central of Colorado has helped Scottsbluff solve its football scheduling problem, temporarily, by agreeing to journey to Scottsbluff for a game next fall on a one-shot basis.

This gives the Bearcats games with Colorado, Wyoming and South Dakota foes, in addition to 5 Nebraska opponents. The problem of finding someone to play after 1961 hasn't yet been solved, however.

DePaul Mentor Ogled By NBA

Chicago (AP)— Ray Meyer of DePaul and Forddy Anderson of Michigan State are top choices as coaches of the new Chicago club in the National Basketball Assn., the group's president said Wednesday.

David Trager, head of a life insurance company in Chicago, said Meyer was his No. 1 choice after returning from Syracuse, N.Y., where he was awarded a Chicago franchise in the NBA next season.

"I've never met Mr. Meyer, but I've heard so many good things about him that he's our No. 1 choice," Trager told the Chicago Sun-Times.

Henke Leads Scoring Race

Kansas City (AP) — Charles Henke of Missouri continues as the leading scorer in Big Eight Conference basketball although Wayne Hightower of Kansas closed in on him the last two games.

Henke, a 6-7 senior, has averaged 23.8 points on 113 field goals and 83 free throws in 13 games. He got 22 points in Missouri's 82-73 victory over Oklahoma State Saturday.

Hightower hit 31 points in Kansas' 90-59 victory over Iowa State Saturday and made 26 in the Jayhawks' 54-49 loss to Oklahoma State Monday night. The two-game total of 57 points brought his 14-game total to 287 points, a 20.5 average.

The 6-9 Hightower has the best average in Big Eight only — 22.7 on 91 points in 4 games.

Rounding out the league's top 10 are Wilky Gilmore of Colorado, with an average of 19.7; Larry Comley, Kansas State, 19.1; Roger Voss, Colorado, 16.8; Ced Price, Kansas State, 16.1; Bill Bridges, Kansas, 15.6; Henry Whitney, Iowa State, 15.0; and Fritz Greer, Oklahoma State, 15.0.

Bill Koehler Fails To Get Finals Berth

San Bernardino, Calif.—Bill Koehler of Lincoln bowed out of the National All-Star Bowling Tournament after finishing his 36 games in the qualifying round with 7,156 pins.

Koehler finished in 78th place after shooting only 1,167 in his final 6 games. Only the top 16 scorers after 36 games advance to the finals which got under way Wednesday.

Koehler's totals on the last 6 games were 139-217-193-223-196-199—1,167 which gave him his 7,156 overall score.

Koehler's first 6-game block Tuesday afternoon saw him fire a 1,203 series.

In the 1960 tournament at Omaha Koehler finished 44th with a score of 7,313. This was 157 pins better for the 36-game haul than his effort this winter.

Pauline Bickel of Omaha also failed to make the finals cutoff in the women's division.

Mrs. Bickel had final 4-game series of 784 and 713 and finished 23rd with a total pin count of 4,515 for the tourney.

Celtic Fans Throw Eggs Despite Plea

. . . SEYMOUR, AUERBACH DO BATTLE

Boston (AP) — Boston Celtics coach Red Auerbach pleaded with egg-throwing fans not to be "poor sports like they are in St. Louis" Wednesday night when his rival, Paul Seymour, pulled the microphone out of its socket.

The incident occurred just before halftime of the Celtics-St. Louis game, the second of a National Basketball Association doubleheader.

Auerbach pleaded with the fans: "Please don't throw any more eggs on the floor. Let's not be poor sports like they are in St. Louis."

The fiery Celtics' mentor was referring to Boston's recent appearance at St. Louis when there was a spattering of eggs including a direct hit on Auerbach. The Boston coach called it "a bush town."

Seymour, disturbed by the reference to the home folks, pulled the plug on Auerbach.

He refused to give the mike to Red or Celtics' publicist Howie McHugh, yielding it finally to Boston Garden policeman Chris Curtin.

Two eggs were thrown immediately after the national anthem was played. Two more came between the first and second period. Twice during the second quarter more were thrown and it was after the latter incident that Auerbach spoke.

No St. Louis player was hit during all this though rookie Lenny Wilkens was narrowly missed. The Hawks won 125-114.

Piersall Given Fine Bonus

Cleveland (AP) — Outfielder Jim Piersall signed his 1961 contract with the Cleveland Indians baseball club Wednesday, bringing to 20 the number of players who have agreed to terms for the coming season.

Salary figures were not disclosed, but a club spokesman said Piersall received a "little boost" over his salary of last season, when he had a .282 batting average and drove in 66 runs in 138 games.

Baseball writers here guessed that with the raise Piersall would earn about $35,000 in the coming season.

Piersall signed following a conference with Walter (Hoot) Evers, Indians' farm director. Evers was given the added responsibility of dealing with unsigned players following the resignation of General Manager Frank Lane who accepted a similar position with the Kansas City Athletics.

Lane has expressed a desire to get Piersall for the Athletics, but isn't optimistic about getting him for the 1961 season.

Nebraska's Hopes Rest On Kowalke

The same disturbing question that has confronted coach Jerry Bush since the Big 8 pre-season tournament tournament will be present Saturday night when Iowa State comes here for a conference test with Nebraska.

Will Jim Kowalke be able to play?

A test run was being arranged Wednesday to see how Kowalke's sprained ankle would stand up under the strain of a workout.

Kowalke was the leading point maker until the injured ankle benched him.

Rex Swett, with an 11.3 average, is the top point producer at the moment. He has scored 147 points in 13 games.

Iowa State, now 1-2 in the conference race, indicated their latent power when they chased Kansas to the wire in the Kansas City tournament, finally losing by 4.

Nebraska's only reverse at home was to Wichita University.

Nebraska has a conference mark of 2-2 with 8-5 overall.

Lincoln High Rallies Past NE Swimmers

Lincoln High won the last 3 events, including the two relays, to come from behind and defeat Northeast, 47-39, in a dual swimming meet Wednesday afternoon.

With Northeast's Pete Crancer and Jim Young picking up two wins apiece, the Rockets held a 35-32 lead going into the last 3 races.

The Links' Bob Frisch won the individual medley and both Lincoln High relay teams won to provide the necessary points for victory.

The state's two finest backstrokers, Ron Bauers of Lincoln High and Bob Ferrell of northeast, put on the best show of the day.

Bauers edged Ferrell with a clocking of 1:01.8, only one 10th of a second off the state record set by Bill Henry of Omaha Benson in last year's state meet.

Ferrell defeated Bauers in the state meet last year.

Charleston Quits AA, 6-Team Loop In 1961

Charleston, W. Va. (AP) —Charleston, the smallest city in Triple A baseball, has decided to sit out the 1961 American Association season because of money troubles.

The Senators, operated as a community-owned club last season, finished 6th in the standings and last in home attendance—95,000 as compared with 163,000 in the pennant-winning year of 1958. Last year's operating loss ran more than $80,000.

Charleston's withdrawal saved the American Association the problem of searching for an 8th club. Only 6 remain for 1961—Omaha, Denver, Louisville, Houston, Dallas and Indianapolis. Houston leaves next year for the National League.

Charleston (Pop. 85,796) is the second community-owned Triple-A club to throw in the towel because of financial woes. Sacramento of the Pacific Coast League struck out earlier. The PCL preserved its 8-team status by taking in Honolulu.

The International League also has had its share of troubles. William MacDonald, who operated at Miami last season, has moved his franchise to San Juan because the team didn't make expenses.

Extra Period Streak Wins For Garland

Lincoln Star Special

Seward—Garland scored 13 points in a 3-minute overtime period to defeat Seward Concordia, 69-58, for the championship of the Seward County basketball tournament Wednesday night.

Russell Krieser, a 6-2 sharpshooter, led Garland by scoring 20 points in the second half and adding 6 in the overtime.

Krieser connected on 12 of 12 free throw attempts and finished the night with 34 points.

As a team Garland made 25 of 30 at the free throw line.

Concordia was led by Cliff Doll, who had a creditable 22 points.

Garland, the Star's 10th-ranked Class D club and the defending state champion, boosted its record to 10-1. Concordia is now 5-6.

In the Class B finals, Seward High's freshmen defeated Beaver Crossing's reserves, 43-39.

XAVIER TIPS LOUISVILLE

Cincinnati (AP)—Xavier's Musketeers rallied from a shaky start here Wednesday night and then went on for an 84-77 basketball victory over Louisville, rated 5th in the nation in the Associated Press poll.

It was only the second defeat in 15 games for the Cardinals. Xavier now has a 10-3 record.

The Musketeers twice had 11 point leads in the first half but they were ahead by only 45-36 at the half.

FINE FOOTBALL CROP—BILL

Omaha (AP) — An unusually fine crop of college football prospects will come out of Nebraska high schools this June, Cornhusker football coach Bill Jennings said Wednesday.

Jennings told an Omaha Rotary Club luncheon he didn't know how many of the youths would enroll at Nebraska, but said "you can be sure we're already recruiting."

Of his own squad, Jennings said the loss of 10 seniors left the Nebraska team a little weak up the middle.

Religious Symbolism Is Custom Of Inauguration

New York (AP) — A Bible . . . a pledge . . . and prayer.

These are among the solemn signs that will mark a historic American ritual this Friday — the inauguration of the 35th president of the United States.

His left hand on a huge, 15-pound Bible, his right hand aloft, John F. Kennedy will take the oath of office.

The religious symbolism connected with such occasions is an ancient custom.

It apparently originated in old Israel, when Jews vowed their faithfulness to a duty while holding a parchment scroll of the law, the first 5 books of the old testament.

No Reference

In the official presidential oath, set down in Section 7 Article II, of the constitution, there is no reference to the deity.

But past presidents have sometimes added the words, "so help me God." And some have spontaneously uttered prayers of their own at the time, or quoted scripture.

However, the oath itself contains none of these elements. If says:

"I do solemnly swear that I will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect and defend the constitution of the United States."

Not Specified

Although no requirement is specified concerning use of the Bible, presidents traditionally have used it. And they choose the version they prefer.

Kennedy, a Roman Catholic, plans to take the oath over a 15-pound family Bible owned by an uncle, Thomas A. Fitzgerald, of Dorchester, Mass.

It is in the Douay Version, an English translation of 1582 and the one most commonly used by American Catholics.

When the first president, George Washington, was inaugurated in 1789, a Bible was secured hurriedly and apparently opened at random to the 49th and 50th chapter of Genesis.

Andrew Johnson took his oath of office with his hand resting on the 21st chapter of Proverbs. Grant chose Isiah II; Hayes, Psalm 118; McKinley, Proverbs 16:21,22, and Franklin D. Roosevelt used 1 Corinthians 8 and 13.

When President Truman was inaugurated in 1949, he quoted Solomon's prayer of dedication from 1 Kings 8. President Eisenhower ventured an impromptu prayer at his first inauguration in 1953.

In 1957, his hand rested on this verse, Psalms 33:12:

"Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord; and the people whom he hath chosen for his own inheritance."

Judge Ronin Heads Lodge

Judge Herbert A. Ronin was installed venerable master of the Lincoln Lodge of Perfection in the Scottish Rite Temple Wednesday evening.

Ronin

Morris D. Siegel, past venerable master, was installing officer.

Swanson, master of ceremonies; Earl Steward, expert; Robert Askey, chaplain of the host; Merle M. Hale, treasurer; Herbert C. Henderson, almoner, and Ray J. Cederdahl, secretary.

Ronin, who is Lancaster County district judge, is a native of Aurora. He is past president of the Lincoln Bar Assn., and Nebraska County Judges Assn., and a member of the Nebraska Bar Assn. and Judicial Council.

He is deputy grand master of the Nebraska Grand Lodge of AF&AM, past master of Lincoln Lodge 210 and assistant rabban of Sesostris Temple.

In addition, he is a member of the Kiwanis Club, Elks Club, Jester, American Legion, 40 et 8 and Second Presbyterian Church.

Walter P. Scott, retired pharmacist, was installed as Master of Kadosh of the Lincoln Consistory.

Accused Embezzler Selects Jail

Sheldon, Iowa (AP) — The reserved, graying daughter of a bank president chose the solitude of a jail Wednesday to going home and face the people from whom she embezzled $2 million.

Mrs. Burnice Iverson Geiger, 58, an assistant cashier and board member of her father's bank where the shortage was discovered, remained in the county jail at Sioux City in lieu of $10,000 bond.

Meanwhile, directors of the Northern Biochemical Corp., a firm in which Mrs. Geiger was a stockholder and which had a large expansion in its one year of operation, met in special session here Wednesday night. The meeting was being held at an undisclosed location.

A company spokesman said that Northern Biochemical was a depositor in the bank but that it had not been determined how the closing of the bank affected the firm.

Northern Biochemical, which makes and sells special animal feeds, announced a few months ago it had employed Elliott Roosevelt, son of the late president, as a financial advisor. Roosevelt flew to Sheldon for the secret meeting.

The Big Four Cooperative Processing Plant, a grain firm located here, had an account in the bank. The manager, Charles Hanson, said he wanted to spike a rumor that the plant had more than $200,000 in the bank.

Hanson said the cooperative had only a checking account for day-to-day trasactions and that he thought any loss would be comparatively small.

Mrs. Geiger's husband, Wallace, a merchant and member of a prominet Sheldon family, said he had sent his wife a note asking her to change her mind about remaining in jail.

"I think there is a good chance I can talk her into putting up the bond," he said.

Meanwhile, Sheldon stores, which had done business with the closed Sheldon National Bank, sought to do business as usual today; and government officials tried to untangle bank records.

U.S. Dist. Atty. F. E. Van Alstine, who said Mrs. Geiger admitted the embezzlement, added "it is my impression she took about half the money during the past year or 18 months.

"Her method was different from any I had ever seen."

He declined to disclose the method, but said the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. knew it.

Van Alstine said Mrs. Geiger, appearing remorseful, told him she intended to put the money back. He would not say where or how the money was spent.

The district attorney said "I asked her if she was insolvent and she said very much so."

He said Mrs. Geiger at first refused an attorney and then Stanley M. Corbett, past president of the Sioux City Bar Association, was appointed her counsel.

Corbett indicated after a meeting with her that she would go into court and plead guilty. The next time a federal judge sits in Sioux City is Jan. 26.

Mrs. Geiger, described by townspeople as a steady, quiet kind of neighbor, is technically charged with embezzlement of an amount in excess of $100 from a federally-insured bank. She was held for the grand jury, which convenes Jan. 30.

Mrs. Geiger was housed in the women's ward of the jail with another woman who is serving a sentence for wanton neglect of her two children.

The head of an FDIC team here to examine the bank records, E. L. Cox Jr., said it might take several weeks to determine liabilities. He said there was no pressure from the depositors.

The bank was insured by the FDIC and each depositor was insured up to $10,000.

WOMEN GO TO LENGTHS FOR STAMPS

The Nebraska Unicameral observed the traditional "power of the woman" Wednesday.

The subject: trading stamps.

Sen. M. M. Forrester of Anselmo had earlier announced he and Sen. Jack Romans of Ord would introduce a bill to bring to a statewide vote the question of whether or not Nebraskans wanting trading stamps in their stores and businesses.

Forrester said he had heard opinions on both sides of the trading stamp question.

The usual arguments are from some businesses, which say the stamps are an added expense passed on to the customers, and from housewives, who say they like to save the stamps and turn them in for the merchandise offered.

Tells Wife

A groceryman in Ashland, Don Seabeck, heard about the proposed bill, and told his wife, Virginia. Mrs. Seabeck got on the telephone and in a short time contacted 26 women who said they wanted to keep their trading stamps, and were willing to go to Lincoln to tell the Legislature.

So Seabeck chartered a bus, and the group traveled the 30 miles to Lincoln Wednesday morning. They talked to Sen. Forrester and others.

The senator then held some brief conferences with other legislators and state officials, and finally said, "We decided not to introduce the bill after all."

Said Seabeck of the trip: "It got our point across."

Hearing Set On Request To Set Commodity Rates

The Nebraska Railway Commission will hold a hearing Feb. 14 in the Statehouse on application of the Gooch Milling Co. of Lincoln and the O. A. Cooper Co., of Humboldt to establish commodity rates on commercial feed and ingredients from Beatrice, Cozad, Humboldt and Lincoln.

In related action, the commission overruled a motion by 18 Nebraska motor carriers to reconsider authority given to the Umthun Trucking Co. of Eagle Grove, Iowa, to establish these same commodity rates from Fremont to all points in Nebraska.

The commodity rates have caused a stir among Nebraska motor carriers who contend they are too low.

In November the commission gave the Umthun Trucking Co. authority to establish the rates to meet interstate competition, but only on shipments from Fremont to other Nebraska cities.

The same authority also applied to other motor carriers shipping from Fremont.

Complications developed in December when the Cooper and Gooch feed mills petitioned for authority to establish the same rates.

Railway Bd. May Control Stock Haulers

A bill placing motor carriers hauling livestock under State Railway Commission certification and regulations is expected to be proposed to the Legislature.

Paul Halpine, executive secretary of the Nebraska Motor Carriers Assn., said Wednesday that the proposed measure is supported by the association's livestock carriers division.

Purpose of the legislation, he said, is to stabilize the livestock carrier industry, require certification of the hauler for benefit of the shipper, and protect highway users.

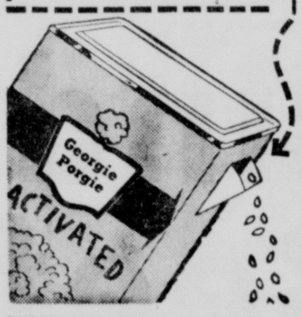

Livestock carriers would be required to meet safety rules and regulations imposed by the railway commission and have sufficient insurance coverage protecting the shipper and the traveling public.

The bill would not attempt to establish hauling rates, Halpine said, nor would the legislation apply to livestock growers or shippers privately transporting their own livestock.

RAILS PACE STOCK RALLY

New York (AP)—Rails were the stars in a sharp stock market rally Wednesday. Trading was heavy.

The advance erased the mild losses taken in Tuesday's correction of the 1961 upsurge. An estimated $3.2 billion was added to the quote value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, based on the rise in the Associated Press average.

Baltimore & Ohio common and the B&O "stamped" common, accepted in the share exchange arrangement directed at eventual merger with Chesapeake & Ohio, were the most heavily traded gainers.

Rails rose as a body. Joining in the advance were the leading steels, big three motors, chemicals, aircraft-missiles, some oils, and a number of the erstwhile "glamour" stocks which have taken a back seat lately.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 5.14 to 634.1.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 2.30 to 229.60 with the industrials up 2.50, rails up 3.70 and utilities up .4 to a new high for 1960-'61.

Of 1,264 issues traded, 759 advanced and 283 declined. New highs for 1960-'61 totaled 59 and new lows 5.

Volume was 4.39 million shares compared with 3.83 million Tuesday.

Corporate bonds advanced while U.S. government bonds declined.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange also ran ahead strongly on volume of 1.52 million shares compared with 1.24 million Tuesday.

Bond volume was 37.23 million par value on the New York Stock Exchange compared with $6.19 million Tuesday.

SOYBEANS REVERSE

Chicago (AP) — Soybean futures ran into their sharpest reversal Wednesday of a 6-week upward trend.

Prices slumped 8 cents a bushel at the extreme with all old crop months still skidding at the close and finishing at their lows of the day.

The grains also were generally weak although wheat and corn mustered a few small plus signs on a skimpy trade.

Soybeans were ¾ cent to 8 cents a bushel lower at the close, January $2.44¼-44; wheat ½ lower to ¼ higher, March $2.10¼; corn ¼ higher to ⅝ lower, March $1.11⅜-½; oats ⅛-¼ lower, March 63¼; rye 1¼-1¾ lower, March $1.13¼.

Lincoln Liberty Life Exceeds Goal For 1960

The Lincoln Liberty Life Insurance Co. exceeded its goal of $200 million of life insurance in force in 1960 according to President Lloyd M. Bentsen Jr. of Houston, Tex.

The announcement came at the company's annual managers' and general agents' meeting at the executive offices in Houston. Home office of the company is in Lincoln.

Bentsen also announced that total insurance sales of more than $44 million were realized in 1960, an increase of more than 12% over sales for 1959.

Bentsen said production last year broke all company records for total sales, premium income, assets, insurance in force and benefits paid.

As a goal for 1961, he said the company will reach for $61 million in sales, or a projected increase of 28% of sales over 1960. This will require a 24% increase in sales force.

Don Hermanson, manager at the home office in Lincoln, announced the annual stockholders meetings of the company will be Feb. 2 at the home office building.

Want Ads Are For Everybody . . .

I learned about Want Ads on my job, and now I use them myself. My boss is a personnel manager for a large company. He uses Want Ads all the time to find new employees for every department in the company. When I saw how sucesful the company ads were, I started to use them myself.

We advertised to sell some unneeded tools from my husband's home workshop, and to sell an extra set of golf clubs and a camping trailer. We got many calls in each ad we ran. Want Ads work for me every day, on the job and at home, too. In case you want top lace an ad yourself, I've got the Journal and Star Want Ad number memorized. Just call GR 7-8902 and ask for Want Ads.
